PRICES SOAR IN GRAIN MARKETS

Threatened Wheat Shortage Causes Bull Activity; May Reach $1.50

Talk of $1.50 wheat has been revived by the phenomenal strength shown by the grain market recently. Thomas Temple Hoyne, author of "Speculation" and other financial texts and expert on market movements, offers his analysis of the present situation and its promise for the farmer.

By THOS. TEMPLE HOYNE
For International News Service.

CHICAGO, June 19.—Nature always delivers the goods for the farmer, and nature has added 12 to 13 cents to the price of wheat, 7 to 8 cents to corn, 1 to 3 cents to oats, and 7 to 8 cents to rye since Congress adjourned without doing anything for agricultural relief beyond threshing out vocally its schemes for legislating high prices into existence.

At the opening of the grain markets today, prices of the grains were all markedly higher than they were a year ago at this time. Wheat was 13 to 15 cents higher, corn 3½ to 10 cents higher, oats 5 to 7½ cents higher, and rye 1 to 3 cents higher.

Conditions Change

Early in the present year it looked as if there was too much wheat in the world and more than enough of other grains. Prospects for big crops were brilliant, but nature dealt out such a line of spring weather that the condition of growing crops has materially changed. This is the case not only in this country, but, ac-

ASKS POLICE AID IN FINDING GIRL

Miss Anna Heiser Reported Missing as Romantic Tinge Uncovered

A romantic tinge was lent to the disappearance yesterday afternoon of Miss Anna Heiser, 17 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Heiser of 313 West Broadway, when it was learned this morning that she was to have been married in July to a young man from Iowa, whose parents are said to reside in Glendale.

This information was offered by Mrs. Mary Boettler, with whom the Heisers are residing. The assumption is that Miss Heiser went to keep a secret rendezvous with her fiance.

Wrote to Fiance

The Glendale police department has been furnished with the following description of the girl: Five feet five inches in height, bobbed hair, and known to associate with a local girl of approximately the same age, named Louise, who is employed in a theatre of this city.

Mrs. Boettler furnished the information that Miss Heiser had corresponded two or three times a week with her fiance in Iowa, and has the reputation of being a girl of sterling character.

Frank Heiser of 365 West Hawthorne street, believed to be a brother of her father, could not be reached this morning. The parents have asked the co-operation of police of other cities in returning their daughter.

Three Blast Victims Buried In Presidio

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—While the giant battleship Mississippi, maimed by the turret explosion that claimed forty-eight lives near Los Angeles last Thursday, rode at anchor in the bay, three of the victims of the explosion were laid to rest this afternoon in the Arlington of the west—the national cemetery of the Presidio.

Arriving from the south en route to Mare Island for repairs shortly after 10 o'clock, the Mississippi cast anchor to permit her personnel to attend the funerals of Coxswain Lee Barbee, Boatswain's Mate George A. Byers and Seaman Rodney L. Anderson.

Huge Refund to Income Taxpayers Through Reduction

WASHINGTON, June 19.—More than a million income taxpayers will receive refunds from the government as a result of the 25 per cent reduction of 1923 taxes, the treasury department announced today.

Since the $16,000,000 appropriation to take care of refunds in the deficiency bill which Congress permitted to die, is not available, the treasury asked the comptroller-general for an opinion as to whether funds appropriated for ordinary refunds may be used. An opinion is expected by the end of the week.

Farmer-Labor Convention to Quit Without Naming Its Party Ticket

By KENNETH CLARK
For International News Service.

ST. PAUL, June 19.—The Farmer-Labor convention here, its machinery jammed by a fresh denunciation from Senator Robert M. La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin, today was preparing to adjourn without naming a third party ticket, content, apparently, with having formed a national third party and adopted a platform stressing communistic doctrines for control of the government.

This platform, one of the major triumphs for the reds who attended the convention, today loomed as the last critical issue between the radicals and the more conservative delegates. Differences which it had been announced might cause the farmer delegates to bolt the convention had apparently been smoothed over by compromises.

Wait Next Move

The Communists, following La Follette's second denunciation, were prepared to put forward Duncan Macdonald, Illinois labor leader, as their presidential candidate, but it had been virtually decided to await developments of the progressive convention. If this puts forward a man of sufficiently radical tendencies for president, they plan to give him their endorsement. If not, they argue, there is still time to put Macdonald or some other candidate in the field.

All this has been tentatively agreed upon and the Communist platform appeared the only battling ground in prospect for today.

PETITION BLOCKS WIDENING PLANS

City Council Orders Halt As Colorado Property Owners Protest

Following the reading of a protest against the further widening of Colorado boulevard, signed by 67.7 per cent of the property owners, and supported by J. M. Boland, president of the Colorado Boulevard Improvement association, the City Council this morning passed a resolution sustaining the petition and ordering that further widening proceedings be abandoned.

Army Fliers Working On Planes at Bangkok

BANGKOK, Siam, June 19.—The United States round the world aviators, who arrived Wednesday afternoon from Saigon, French Indo-China, spent today overhauling their machines and resting.

Intense heat prevailing over India will be their chief obstacle during the next four or five legs of their flight.

BATTLE FOR DELEGATES RAGING

Democratic Strategists In Struggle to Line Up Voting Strength

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The preliminary skirmishing and feinting that always precede a great political convention gave way today to deadly serious business of a give-and-take fight for delegates as the principal figures of the Democratic party poured into New York for next week's historic battle in the Garden.

Argument over the two thirds rule, the unit rule and kindred matters was relegated to second place about the crowded hotel lobbies. The two leading contenders—William G. McAdoo and Governor Al Smith, were in personal charge of their respective camps and directing the count of noses.

Smith's Problem

There are approximately 250 delegates in the convention whose course is uncertain after the complimentary balloting is out of the way and it is toward these delegates that both the McAdoo and Smith camps are casting covetous eyes.

As a result of missionary work already accomplished, the Smith forces raised their estimate today of the strength the governor will pool with in the first half dozen ballots. They now figure in excess of 400 delegates will be in the Smith column by the fifth ballot. Where to get the 332 more necessary to make two-thirds is a tough problem.

Brennan's Prophecy

The Smith problem, however, is but little harder than that confronting the McAdoo managers. Assured of approximately 450 votes on the early ballots, with possible accessions up to 600

AWAIT JAP MOVE ON IMMIGRATION

Hughes Note Is Made Public; Japan to Decide Fate Of Agreement

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Although Secretary of State Hughes, by his note replying to the Japanese exclusion protest, released the Japanese government from the "gentlemen's agreement" with respect to immigration, it still remained today for Japan to decide whether or not the agreement is to be abrogated.

Hughes went into considerable detail in explaining his position that the Oriental exclusion provision in the new immigration bill was not much different than the regulations now in force between the two governments to shut out an influx of Orientals.

Must Enforce Law

He explained, however, that it had been the desire of President Coolidge as made known several times, to continue to regulate immigration through diplomatic channels rather than by Congressional enactment, adding that the law, having been duly enacted, must be enforced.

Flat denial was made that the immigration law, as alleged by the Japanese government, violated any of the provisions of the commercial treaty of 1911 between the United States and Japan.

The Hughes note, made public today in Washington and Tokio, was friendly in tone and emphasized that no affront to Japan was intended in the new law.

U-Boats Collide In San Diego Maneuvers

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The submarines S-33 and S-35 collided while making a submerged sectional attack during battle maneuvres off San Diego, Cal., late yesterday, according to a despatch received at the navy department today. No personal injuries resulted. The S-35 sustained slight damage to her hull, which is being repaired by the fleet's submarine tender.

Council Furthers Sewer System By Two Resolutions

The Glendale City Council this morning adopted two resolutions to expedite construction of the $1,600,000 trunk line sewer for which bonds were voted some months back. Similar resolutions are before the Los Angeles City Council at today's session.

The first resolution declared it to be to the interest and advantage of the city of Glendale to enter into a joint agreement with the city of Los Angeles, approved such an agreement and authorized the execution thereof.

Right of Way

The second resolution found, determined and declared that the location of the city of Glendale is such that said city cannot be adequately or conveniently provided with sewers without the construction of and maintenance by said city of certain sewers in, across and along certain streets and other public places of and within the city of Los Angeles, and designated such streets and other public places, determining the proportionate part of the cost, construction and maintenance to be borne by the respective cities.

Expect Action

Passage of these resolutions followed the report made by the Advisory Sewer committee recently appointed by the City Council, which report appeared in full in yesterday's issue of The Glendale Evening News.

It is believed that the work of constructing an adequate sewer system for the city of Glendale will go forward without further delay, provided the Los Angeles City Council passes resolutions similar to those passed this morning by the Glendale City Council.

Property Owners Enter Protests On Glendale Avenue Paving Contract

BULLETIN

The City Council this afternoon rejected the protests of the Glendale avenue property owners against the paving of that thoroughfare and ordered that the assessment for the improvement, as prepared, be confirmed.

Protests against the pavement laid down on Glendale avenue by the National Paving company, as a sub-contractor for Peter L. Ferry, were heard this morning by the City Council, and a report of the present condition of the street was read by J. F. McClish, representing a committee of property owners that made an investigation of the entire street.

Mr. McClish prefaced his report by stating that he fully understood the street had been accepted on behalf of the City Council by Benjamin F. Dupuy, city engineer, and that it rested with the Council to take such steps as that body saw fit, to protect the property owners against what Mr. McClish considered an unsatisfactory paving job.

He said he understood that a maintenance bond had been posted, but that he was informed by legal authority that it is without value and therefore offers no protection.

C. W. Bacon, H. C. Jaacks and R. M. Brown likewise addressed the Council, protesting against this street and stating that property owners' interests should be protected. Mr. Bacon asked that the street be resurfaced. Follow-

Dry Squad Continues Raid on Rich Homes

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—Continuing its raids on the homes of the wealthy, the "millionaire" dry squad today visited the home of J. Ross Clark, brother of W. A. Clark, Montana copper king.

Nothing was seized at the Clark liquor vault, however, as it was said the search warrant held by the officers was defective and they left to obtain new papers. Last night the raiders seized $7500 worth of liquors at the home of Harry C. Lee, president of a sugar company.

LIGHT STANDARD COSTS ARE TOLD

$7 Painting Charge Scored; Call for Bids Urged By Association

The installing of lights on Glendale avenue will average $73.60 more for each standard than the cost of the job per standard on San Fernando road, L. C. Witt, from the office of Peter Diederich, superintendent of city lights and water, told members of the Glendale Advancement association at the meeting held today noon at the Harriett Mae Tea room.

One of the additional items of expense, Mr. Witt said, would be $7 for painting each standard, whereas the standards on San Fernando road were not painted. Several members of the association stated they believed the painting cost was too high and asked that the city call for bids for this part of the work. A report showing the comparison in cost of the two jobs was filed with the organization.

No Jurisdiction

The special committee appointed last week, consisting of J. F. McClish, C. W. Bacon and R. M. Brown, reported that they found the city had no jurisdiction over the property on Glendale avenue where a cash payment for the lighting assessment was demanded, inasmuch as the property is under the Torrens title, and the city failed to provide jurisdiction at the time of the orginal proceedings. It would not hold up the installation of the lights, the committee reported.

President C. W. Ingledue, who presided at the meeting, named R. M. Brown as the association's representative on the citizens' committee to look into improvement bonds, etc. Mrs. M. C. Park acted as secretary during the absence of Herman Nelson, who is on a vacation. The members voted to continue the meetings during the summer months.

ENROLLMENT INCREASE SHOWN

Attendance In City Schools Reveals Huge Advance In Population

Enrollment figures at the Glendale Union High school for the year, to date, show that the attendance total this year was 2250 for the Broadway and Harvard Street schools. This is an increase of 336 over last year's total, or 17 per cent. The graduates this year number 240 as compared to 178 last June, an increase of 35 per cent.

In the city school system the total enrollment increased from 3889 to 4724 between June, 1923, and June, 1924. This enlargement of 835 pupils represents an increase of nearly 22 per cent. At the Glendale Intermediate the graduating class last year numbered seventy-five and jumped this year to 143; a 90 per cent increase. At the Wilson Intermediate there were 206 graduates this year and o nly 155 last June; an increase of 33 per cent.

Displays Growth

With the school system recognized as the most accurate gauge of the growth of a community, these figures offer conclusive proof of the continued growth of Glendale. Since its founding in 1902 the High school has acted as a barometer recording the growth of this city. In that year it was established in the old building that stood on the southwest corner of Broadway and Brand boulevard and boasted a total of twenty-eight pupils and two instructors.

Great Increase

The following year the enrollment nearly doubled, totaling forty-eight, and in 1904 it rose to fifty-six. In 1905, with the student body numbering sixty-five, the first graduation exercises were held for five members of the senior class. Little did George U. Moyse, who has been principal of the High school since it first opened its doors, think that nineteen years later he would be presenting diplomas to a graduating class numbering 242 boys and girls from an institution

TWO INHALE GAS FUMES IN SENATE

Rhode Island Solons Taken To Hospital, Overcome By Poisoned Air

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 19.—Senator Arthur Sherman, Republican floor leader, and Senator Harry Sanderson were removed to the Rhode Island state hospital today in a serious condition, suffering from effects of what is believed to be chlorine gas. Papers saturated with the gas were discovered beneath the chair of Lieutenant-Governor Felix A. Toupin.

The timely discovery of the gas-saturated papers prevented additional casualties among the worn-out members of the Senate and the crowd that jammed the chamber. The fumes became so strong that it was impossible to remain in the chamber and the Republicans agreed to an hour's recess in order to clear the room of the gas fumes.

The papers are being held in the governor's office pending chemical analysis. A filibuster is now entering its third day.

Postal Workers Act On Strike Question

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 19.—Postal workers in Vancouver and the whole of British Columbia have decided to postpone drastic action on the strike question until 5 o'clock tonight.

Maj. Martin Not to Lead Army Flyers Home From Europe

LEAPS FROM HURTLING AIRSHIP

Flyer In Parachute Watches Plane Crash, Escapes Death In Ravine

DAYTON, Ohio, June 19.—Lieutenant John A. Macready shook hands with death late last night and got away with it.

He was piloting an Airsway ship from Columbus to Dayton, and, when directly over the center of Dayton, heading for McCook field, the motor cut off and began a long glide to the edge of the city. When he reached an open space he stepped off and, from his lofty perch in the parachute, saw the airplane go hurtling to the ground. He heard the crash and saw the big explosion which occurred when the gas tank let go.

Tree Halts Fall

Macready continued to drop easily toward the ground and landed on the brink of a ravine. He stumbled in the darkness and began falling. The parachute caught in a tree, and there Macready hung. He yelled for help, and some men living nearby cut him down.

Macready was up 5000 feet when the motor cut off and 2500 feet when he stepped into space.

The plane crashed in a field near a cemetery just east of the city. It was a total wreck.

The Airsway ship is a big De Haviland, and was in regular service on the airways.

LOSES $5200 TO THIEVES WITNESS ASSERTS

Threats of Death Cause Him to Disappear, Is Story In Court

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—A bombshell was sprung today by the defense when David Pashkow, alias Donwell, took the witness stand in Federal Judge Paul J. McCormick's court, where he is being tried with Nettie C. Bowen on charges of conspiracy to defraud.

Pashkow, who was the owner of the Little Premium market on Glendale avenue, Glendale, testified that he had been held up and robbed in the basement of the San Fernando building, near Fifth and Main streets, Los Angeles, prior to his disappearance, and that the robbers ordered him to leave the country under threat of death.

Loses $5200, Claim

It was claimed by the witness that he lost $5200 in the robbery and he was so thoroughly frightened that he got in his car and started driving east. He was picked up in Chicago after the Wholesalers' Board of Trade had unsuccessfully tried to pay out his creditors in his Glendale business.

Assistant United States District Attorney Russell Graham worked with a blackboard diagram of downtown Los Angeles getting the details of Pashkow's asserted robbery and Attorney Lewinsohn for the defense gave him every opportunity to try to tangle the witness in one of the most sensational stories heard in federal court in a fraud case.

Causes Surprise

Mrs. Donwell, as Nettie Bowen was known in Glendale, looked on an interested co-defendant. The story of the robbery seemed to be a surprise to all concerned, except the attorneys for Pashkow, who privately stated that they were disinclined to believe his story at first, but investigation proved it to be not only reasonable but substantiated by facts which they will bring out when they have their inning in court.

According to this same source of information, Donwell so feared the vengefulness of the robbers that he was reticent about telling the story. However, it makes a splendid defense and the jurors are exhibiting decided interest in what appeared to be a simple case of absconding with the assets of the market.

PASADENA, June 19.—A hot battle over the Boulder canyon dam project on the Colorado river, rated as the greatest proposed hydro-electric power and irrigation development in the United States ,was precipitated here today at the convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers. K. P. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE LAUNCHED

Rival Teams Will Compete In Month's Campaign To Swell Numbers

A membership drive has been launched by the Glendale lodge, No. 331, Knights of Pythias, under the leadership of Messrs. Wright, Fram, Leedom and Nicholson.

Announcement of plans for the drive were made Tuesday night at the lodge meeting in the K. P. hall on South Brand boulevard. For the next thirty days the local lodge will accept applications at the old rates. It is said that those who take advantage of this offer will save considerably. The increase in fees has been ordered by the grand lodge and it will go into effect July 24.

Chancellor Commander S. E. Wright directed the meeting Tuesday night. The rank of knight was exemplified before a large gathering, including knights from Van Nuys and Pasadena.

Emil Fram, acting master of work, directed the ceremonial, assisted by Joe Griffin and James Spence of the degree team.

Following the meeting a banquet was held with Hal E. Leedom acting as toastmaster.

The guest of honor was Edward Aiten, past grand chancellor of the state of Kansas. He talked concerning the new Pythian home at Santa Rosa.

Further plans for the membership drive are to divide the lodge into two rival teams headed by the chancellor commander and vice chancellor. The winning side will be entertained at dinner by the losers.

Will Direct Opera Cast

HARRY GIRARD, well known Glendale musician, will wield the baton at the presentation of Verdi's "Il Trovatore," that is sponsored by the Glendale Elks lodge for its charity fund.

One of the big attractions for the presentation Saturday night of Verdi's grand opera "Il Trovatore" at the Broadway High school, under the auspices of the Glendale Elks lodge, is that Henry Girard, Glendale resident, well known musician, and member of the local lodge, is director of the National English Grand Opera comany, which is giving the opera.

Critics have had nothing but the highest praise for Mr. Girard and his singers as they have appeared during the last two months before critical audiences at the Gamut club in Los Angeles.

The company includes many celebrated artists, among them being Agnes Cain Brown (Mrs. Girard), who heads the company.

One critic has said of the company "The principals are all above the average of the ordinary and their voices are tuneful and free from usual operatic forcing, and some of them will go on and be heard from in the broader field of repertoire and distinction."

The presentation in Glendale is for the benefit of the Elks' charity fund. Tickets can be secured at the Elks' clubhouse, Roberts & Echols Drug store, Glendale Music company and Shuck Music company.

SCHOOL FIGURES REVEAL INCREASE

with an enrollment of over 2000.

By 1913 the attendance had increased to 350, and the school had been moved to a new location on East Harvard street, which it occupied up until the middle of the present year. The next year found a 23 per cent increase, bringing the total to 428. The increase in the last ten years has been approximately 367 per cent. By figuring on this percentage holding good until 1934, we come to the startling result that the total enrollment for the high schools of this city should surpass the 9000 mark in that year.

This seems to go beyond the realms of probability, but, no doubt, the residents of Glendale in 1914 would have scoffed at the idea of a high school with an enrollment of 2000 ten years later. But such is the case. Basing calculations on the 17 per cent increase during the past year, the result would indicate a student body of over 3000 two years hence in June, 1926.

The astounding growth of Glendale as pictured by these figures cannot be estimated, but it is evident that there has been no slacking up on the influx of newcomers. As a parting shot it way be stated that ten years ago next September the total number of school children in attendance at the grammar schools was 1239; today it is 4724, representing an increase of 281 per cent, which, if maintained for the next ten years, will result in a total of 17,900 pupils in the grammar schools in 1934.

DEMOCRATS ARE STILL BATTLING

Convention Strategists In Struggle to Line Up Voting Strength

on succeeding ballots, the anti-McAdoo forces are inclined to ask where Mr. McAdoo is going from there.

"Mr. McAdoo will be nominated by the tenth ballot if not before," asserted Colonel Thomas B. Love of Texas, one of the McAdoo managers. He did not explain, however, wehe the delegates are to be found.

"There will be no nominees on the tenth ballot and probably for a good while thereafter," said George Brennan, the Illinois "boss," with a certain grim smile that betokened confidence in his own arithmetic.

Underwood Choices

The Underwood managers are saying little except that after McAdoo and Smith have finished their work of "murdering each other," the convention will have to go some place and they are hopeful it will be toward Alabama.

But their hopes were echoed by the supporters of every other dark horse in the Democratic stable—John W. Davis, of West Virginia; Senator Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana; Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas; David F. Houston of Texas and New York—and by the friends of horses even darker hued than those.

Davis, Ralston, Robinson and Houston appeared today to constitute the big four among the second choices—preference being in the order named.

Bryan on Scene

To the list of Democratic prominents already here was added today William Jennings Bryan, three times the nominee of his party, now relegated to the background but still a potentially powerful figure.

He admitted he did not know who would be nominated.

"But I know who won't be," he added quickly. "Al Smith will not be."

Bryan is a delegate from Florida and as such is instructed for McAdoo.

ASK ASSESSMENT DISTRICT FORMED

Funds for Flood Control Channel In Sycamore Canyon Sought

A committee representing property owners affected by the proposed Sycamore Canyon flood control channel appeared before the City Council today with a request for an assessment district to provide funds for covering this channel. They were referred to Ray L. Morrow, city attorney, and Benjamin F. Dupuy, city engineer, to see if such a district could be legally established.

F. J. Hayselden, representing the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the council this morning and requested that an ordinance be passed prohibiting the sale of fireworks in Glendale. The matter was taken under advisement.

The Van de Camp Dutch bakery was denied a permit to erect one of their frame wind-mills at the southwest corner of Colorado boulevard and Wing street.

VERDICT NEAR IN TRIAL OF GREER

Defendant Refuses to Take Stand; Case Is Ready For Jury Today

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—The case of Horace Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, famous film beauty, charged with shooting Courtland S. Dines, Denver millionaire, was ready for the jury today. A verdict is expected before night.

Greer, who refused to testify in his own defense because, he said, he would "rather go to prison than say anything that might hurt Mabel Normand," watched the ten women and two men of the jury closely while Assistant District Attorney Fricke closed the final arguments.

Grain Prices Soar; Shortage Threatens

cording to foreign reports, abroad also.

Not, however, until the posting of the United States government report June 9 was the threatening shortage of wheat fully realized by the trade. But the danger was instantly recognized on the posting of those figures.

Bull Market Starts

On the following day the bull market in wheat started and it has continued ever since. So far prices have advanced every day for eight consecutive days, a record for a continued advance in wheat for more than three years.

The end does not appear in sight yet. Local speculators and traders talk optimistically of $1.50 wheat, but such extreme views cannot be accepted as likely to be realized until the next government report in July shows whether the wheat crop has continued to deteriorate. It may have made up ground it lost earlier in the year.

The situation in corn looks to many good judges to be really more bullish than wheat. This is because the demand for corn is practically all domestic.

This is just the reverse of the situation with wheat. The result is that in the case of corn the conditions of crop, demand and supply are all closer at hand and susceptible to better scrutiny than in the case of wheat. The price of the latter grain in this country may be vitally affected by a shortage in Canada or Argentine, but we grow and consume practically all of our own corn crop.

Two Dead, Score Hurt In N. Dakota Tornado

FARGO, N. D., June 19. — Two known dead and a score of injured, with property loss estimated at more than $500,000, was the toll that a tornado accompanied by rain and hail levied in North Dakota last night.

The deaths were reported from Dickson, N. D., as were the injured. It is feared that fuller reports from other parts of the state may increase the casualty list. Communication is badly crippled.

ASK ROTARY TO WORK FOR PEACE

W. B. Kirk Predicts Renewed Warfare Should Nations Fail to Disarm

W. B. Kirk, travel correspondent, while on a European tour, for The Glendale Evening News, was the speaker this noon at the Glendale Rotary club, and he made a sincere plea for every American to use his influence to prevent further wars.

"We are heading for the worst war the world has ever seen unless we unite with the other nations in some sort of a league to bring about disarmament," Mr. Kirk told the Rotarians.

"The United States has the money, the power, the character and the reputation to ameliorate the situation. And when you think of Italy bristling with arms, France keeping up large armies in Germany and Germans teaching their children to hate and fight the French you may know that some influence is needed."

Advise Foreign Travel

The speaker advised all who could to make the trip to Europe for Europeans cannot come to see us because of economic conditions. He outlined the cost of such travel and advised those going to the Continent should see the fjords of Norway, but miss Egypt and Palestine uness they visited there in midwinter.

Incidents in his visits to twenty-four different countries covering 30,000 miles brought him to the conclusion that the British are the salt of the earth.

"I came to the conclusion that God put the great power in their hands to govern half of the world because they are worthy of it. They believe in spirituality. On the other hand France is three-fourths materialistic."

Taxes Are Double

Speaking of the economic situation Mr. Kirk declared that England was paying twice the taxes France was, that it has 1,250,000 unemployed, its cattle have been ravaged by the foot and mouth disease, and yet they are paying their war debts to America as no other country has attempted.

In Germany the professional people have lost their income, he said, and in twelve days while he was in the country marks sunk from four billion for a dollar to 320 billions for a dollar, and the German government hangs on by a slender thread. Yet they are not bankrupt and their wealthy people are more lavish than any others of the continentals in spite of the fact that Americans are asked to keep their starving babies in food and clothes, he said.

"The Germans are a dominant people who must be reckoned with," said Mr. Kirk, "but they are thinking wrong and it is up to us to set them right in my belief."

LUMMIS SPEAKS TO MEMBERS OF READING CIRCLE

Southwest's Historian Urges Hearers to Cultivate Community Spirit

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.

"Add reverence and romance to your three R's," was the plea made yesterday by Charles F. Lummis, founder of the Southwest Museum, authority on Indian and Spanish music, literature and romance, and writer of California history, who was honored guest and speaker at the annual picnic luncheon of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle in Eagle Rock park.

Although past 80 years of age and afflicted with blindness, Mr. Lummis possesses an alert mind and keen sense of humor and his talk yesterday, a happy combination of reminiscences and philosophy, was a brillant climax for the year's activity of the circle.

Early Researches

He told of walking across the continent forty years ago and of beginning research work among the Indians, Spaniards and other primitive people, that has led to one of the finest collections of music in the world. Many of the songs and musical selections Mr. Lummis had to learn by ear because there were no musical instruments to record them. Finally, when the phonograph was available 500 of the Spanish songs and 500 of the Indian songs in thirty-seven different languages were recorded.

"We are getting to live more and more by vicarious atonement," he warned in his ardent plea for more of the community spirit and for more self-development and expression.

Early Costumes

As he stood in the company of women seated about under the California oak trees, he presented a real picture in his olive green corduroy suit, with red sash, similar to the costume of the men of the early days.

There was but one regret in the picnic gathering, attended by 101 members and guests, and that was that Mrs. Charles H. Toll, founder of the circle, was unable to be present. A message from her was read by Mrs. A. M. Rowe. The message follows:

"The friendships of life are its sweeteners, as the experiences of life are its spices. It is well that you pause just before the summer partings long enough to enrich those friendships that you have formed in the circle, by coming closer together in the informal and intimate way that the yearly picnic allows.

Vacation Wishes

"May you go forth to your summer farings with a lighter heart because of the assurance that these friends are yours for the enrichment of your lives and with the happiness that life with its opportunities and love for service is yours. And may the summer months give to you a period for recreation, re-creation, truly, and reflection, allowing time for the assimilation of the great thought that through the circle instrumentality have entered the portals of your minds.

"May the fall see you returning to the circle refreshed in mind and body and stimulated by the knowledge that the open door to wisdom and opportunity stands ajar before you and invites you to enter and to gain and share the

MANUAL TRAINING WORK EXHIBITED

Students of Intermediate School Stage Display Of Year's Work

Many parents interested in the work accomplished by their children in the manual training classes of the Wilson Intermediate school, visited the exhibits arranged by the seventh and eighth grade classes in the department rooms last night. The exhibits consisted of 265 pieces, representing the work for the entire year, and pictured the advance from the more simple forms of wood work up to such pieces as elaborate library tables.

Three awards were given in each class for the best work. The winners in the eighth grade were: first, Gordon Amophlett, solid oak library table; second, Howard Orider, clothes chest; third, Joseph Jonkey, book rack.

Sewing Display

In the seventh grade the prizes were: first, Howard Gulock, taberet; second, Miorn Pinkston, oak clock; third, Jack Murphy, taberet. The exhibit also included a display of mechanical drawing plates.

In conjunction with the exhibit of woodwork, the domestic science departments placed on display in their rooms the work completed by the sewing classes. The instructor in charge of the manual training classes was Walter F. Hansen, and the domestic science instructors were Ethel Baker and Mabel Nisbet. Pupils in the classes acted as guides.

GOVERNMENT RED TAPE

The Congress or the Cabinet that takes steps to eliminate unnecessary detail in the administration of the government is one that will confer a lasting benefit upon the nation. It is to be expected that there should be system and efficiency of the highest order in the business of the government, but there is no reason for unnecessarily hampering and discommoding those for whom the government exists.

The announcement was made that a fund had been subscribed by charitably-inclined individuals for the dependents of the sailors who were killed in the accident aboard the U. S. S. Mississippi last week. This was to tide them over the emergency until government red tape could be unwound to allow them pensions or such other remuneration as they were entitled to. If the dependents of these men have any claim upon the government, and of course they have, why not allow them their due now before it is necessary for them to become objects of charity? It is disgraceful that the mothers and wives of these boys, who gave up their lives as they did, for the greatest and the wealthiest nation in the world, should have to accept alms.

The same thing is true in many cases of disabled veterans of the world war. A former soldier was asked why a certain comrade of his was receiving compensation from the government while he, who needed it worse, was not. He said, "Because he was persistent. He camped on the doorstep and insisted on what was due him. They wore me out with red tape and detail and I gave up in disgust."

Congress at the last session voted a twenty-five per cent reduction on income taxes the past year. This was passed before March 15 when income taxes were due, but in spite of the president's request that it be made immediately applicable Congress preferred to compel the people to pay the full amount of the tax and then provided for a refund later.

Common sense could eliminate a lot of unnecessary detail in all departments of the government.

PROHIBITION A FAILURE?

Prohibition has been branded as a a failure. Anyone who wants liquor can get it. Bootlegging has become a highly remunerative profession. There are those who have always been abstainers who would like to see the Volstead law repealed because they think it a failure and that it encourages law breaking. The statement that there is more drinking now than before Prohibition is absolutely ridiculous.

It is true that those who want liquor can get it. Some boys and girls in certain circles carry flasks. Their elders do it and they have learned to drink just as children of drinking parents have always learned to drink. But there is a very much larger class of American children growing up who do not have the opportunity and the temptation to drink that they would have had without prohibition. It is these boys, and girls, too, who are being benefited by prohibition. There will be fewer and fewer people drinking in each succeeding generation, and it will not be so many years before the man who makes, sells or buys liquor will be regarded as the law-breaker he is. Prohibition was a radical reform, just as the abolition of slavery was radical, and it could not be expected that it should be accomplished all at once.

As for the Volstead law encouraging law breaking; those who commit murder would not be law-breakers if there were no law against murder. Of course there is no law-breaking where there are no laws. The time will come when those who violate the Volstead law will be regarded in the same light as those who break other laws.

ELECTION YEAR UNREST

The year of presidential election is always a period of unrest, especially in financial circles, and the uncertainty affects business of all kinds to a certain extent. The nomination of Coolidge and Dawes in the Republican convention has had a stabilizing influence, but the nation is still unsettled because of what may happen between now and November 4. No one can tell what kind of a turn the Democratic convention may take, and no one knows what LaFollette and his friends may do.

Coolidge and Dawes make a strong team. The vice-presidential nominee served as controller of the currency under President McKinley, very recently he has been prominently before the people as director of the Federal Bureau of the Budget, and still more recently as head of the committee of experts who drafted a plan to establish German finances on a basis that would enable that country to make reparations payments as agreed. The Dawes plan is even now in a fair way to bring order out of chaos in the Ruhr.

The election of Coolidge and Dawes is very probable. In that event we shall have continued prosperity and the campaign cry of economy in government will become more than a slogan.

KEEP YOUNG

Get back to the illusions and the enthusiasms of youth if you would keep young. Youth is in the heart, and we can keep it if we will. Do you remember when you were a child how you looked forward to some pleasure and you thought the day would never come. Your diversions are not the same today, but if you still have that delight in them and that eagerness for them no one can call you old, no matter how many your years. Does the thought of Christmas warm your heart? Then you are still young. Do you delight in fairy stories, in The Arabian Nights, Treasure Island, Robinson Crusoe? Then you will never grow old. Though you may have seen many years, do you believe that life still holds something for you; that you have joys yet to look forward to? Then you are very fortunate, for you have eternal youth in your heart.

TRUTH MUST ALWAYS APPEAR

Truth in advertising is a principle that is being urged by ad clubs, advertising agencies, business men and newspapers and magazines. The advertiser who deliberately falsifies is no longer in good standing. Reputable newspapers and magazines will not accept advertising unless they know it is bona fide. One national magazine at least, and perhaps others, goes so far as to guarantee to its readers to make good any loss sustained through misrepresentation of goods advertised in its columns.

Have you noticed that a lean widow with fat insurance is always more popular than a fat widow with no insurance?

A lot of folks worry about crossing a bad bridge and then find the darn thing closed for repairs.

TWO MINDS WITH BUT A SINGLE THOUGHT

Crime and Youth

By DR. FRANK CRANE

There is little doubt that a great part of crime is caused by Youth.

Some minds never grow up.

There is a large portion of the crime of the country that is committed by the young. This is easily explained, as the characteristics of young-mindedness are adventure, recklessness and thoughtlessness, which are also the characteristics of the criminal mind.

No one can read the life story of the bobbed-haired bandit, as she gives it herself, nor any one of a dozen others, without seeing that crime is the natural result of a misspent or wronged youth.

The ultimate cure for crime, therefore, lies in our schoolhouses and in the proper environment that we throw about the young.

There is hardly a family that does not contain a black sheep, which is usually some member over supplied with the "will's success," and under supplied with moral inhibitions.

The result may be easily foreseen. With the development of life there comes a development of the desires and less and less of the will power which is to keep them in control. The result is crime.

No one can wish to have all of the youth of any country prigs, to have the moral inhibitions so strengthened as to leave no avenue open to the spirit of adventure. But a certain balance is necessary and the unbalanced mind rebels against the conventions and the restraints which society places upon all of us.

Obeying the law is in itself little different than obeying the conventions, keeping the rules of the game, and those who succeed in the long run are those who can operate "within the law." To step outside of these conveitions is to bring upon us the wrath of that community in which we live. It behooves everyone of us to be, to a certain degree, mob-minded.

Just what that degree may be is for the youth himself to determine.

There never has been any method for keeping youth in check nor any other criterion than the youth himself.

Every moral problem is, in the end, a problem of eugenics, of getting babies well born, and equipping them sufficiently to live in that community where they are destined.

Horoscope

According to astrology the planetary direction of this day is not important. Early in the morning Saturn is adverse, while later Jupiter and Uranus are in malefic asgect. Mars is friendly.

Under this planetary government there may be a strong tendency toward laziness which affects persons of all ages.

It is wise to delay all important decisions, especially those that may affect future activities.

Political candidates and their managers may find this rather a difficult rule under which to accomplish satisfactory results.

Loyalty may be impaired easily while this rule prevails, for the human mind is supposed to be peculiarly susceptible to unpleasant suggestions.

During this sway intrigues and double-dealing are supposed to be encouraged.

Judges and lawyers of all ranks will be much criticised at this time when something will happen to make legal matters the object of distrust.

There is a fairly promising direction of the stars for constructive work of every sort today.

Vacation longings are believed to be stimulated by this government of the stars which will encourage athletic exercises as well as the desire for amusement.

There is an easy money sign supposed to affect speculation all through the month and becoming very active the 26th, 28th and 30th.

Sleeping out of doors should be especially beneficial during the last week in this month. Life in the open should be sought by all who can manage it, for there will be need of much physical strength as the autumn advances.

From this date to the end of June, marriages will be marked by intensely romantic ideals and much festivity on the part of friends. Costly weddings may be expected.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of rather an unsettled year. They should avoid speculation and beware of false friends.

Children born on this day probably will be very high-minded and ambitious. These subjects of Gemini usually have cancer traits and may be sensitive, talented and versatile.

Worth While Verse

OF AN ORCHARD

Good is an Orchard, the Saint saith,
To meditate on life and death,
With a cool well, a hive of bees,
A hermit's grot below the trees.

Good is an Orchard; very good,
Though one should wear no monkish hood.
Right good, when Spring awakes her flute,
And good in yellowing time of fruit.

Very good in the grass to lie
And see the network 'gainst the sky,
A living lace of blue and green,
And boughs that let the gold between.

The bees are types of souls that dwell
With honey in a quiet cell;
The ripe fruit figures goldenly
The soul's perfection in God's eye.

Prayer and praise in a country home,
Honey and fruit; a man might come,
Fed on such meats, to walk abroad,
And in his Orchard talk with God.
—Katherine Tyman.

Good Old Days, Then And Now

Life on the farm is very different now than it was thirty or forty years ago. The farmer and his family and his hired help were so isolated then that it made farm life far from agreeable. Progress had been made with farm machinery and the farmer had the reaper and the binder and the steam thresher, but the tractor was undreamed of and all plowing and much of the other farm work had to be done laboriously with a team.

The farmer's wife had practically no conveniences or aids to her work. The entire family rose before dawn and worked until after dark, from the time they began to break ground in the spring until after the corn was all husked late in the fall. Then there was leisure to cut the year's supply of wood, do the butchering, mend the harness and do other necessary jobs.

Some of the family usually made the trip to town once a week for supplies, driving a team, at some seasons of the year over almost impassable roads. But there was little that the farmer of that day had to buy aside from flour, sugar, coffee and such staples. He butchered his own cattle and hogs and cured his own meat and his wife used the surplus fat for making soap. Vegetables and fruit were raised and canned or dried on the farm. The housewife made her own bread, pies and cakes, churned her own butter, and had her own chickens and eggs.

Of course there were neighborhood social affairs and in the winter months the young people went to town occasionally, but, during the summer there was not much rest or recreation for the dwellers on the farm.

Consider the lot of the farmer today. He has every convenience in the way of improved machinery, his hours are the same as those of the city man except, perhaps, in emergencies. He goes about his work more intelligently for he knows more about the science of farming. Very often he, or his son, or his help have had university training in agriculture. At least they have the benefit of government and university experiments in farming methods.

The farmer's wife often has the same conveniences in her home as her city sister. The family is connected with the outside world by telephone and the family car and good roads lessen the distance between the farm and the city If the family wish to remain home in the evening they have the phonograph or they hear concerts in far-off cities by means of the radio. Perhaps the son of the house or the hired man has jumped into his roadster and is often to town for a good time, and this is in the busy season as well as in the winter months.

The farmer sells his stock on the hoof and buys his meat, he sells his cream and buys butter and cheese. He sometimes buys his eggs, chickens, vegetables and fruit and fuel.

The life of the farmer and his family and his help has entirely changed in the last three or four decades. The farmer should be the last to wish for the good old times.

SEES PROFUSION OF NEW DAHLIAS

Banner Year for Flowers Is Predicted by Leader in Bloom Culture

EAGLE ROCK, June 19.—This will be a banner year for dahlias in this community, according to Mrs. C. W. Young, one of the leaders in the cultivation of the popular bloom.

"In driving about through Eagle Rock, I have been quite amazed at the number of early blooming dahlias I have seen," says Mrs. Young. "And I am sure that there are even more people getting their dahlias in for the later blooming in time for the show."

Mrs. Young states that Mrs. C. A. Kirksey of Hill Drive, will be in charge of the dahlia committee for the rest of the preparations. Mrs. Young will be away from Eagle Rock for most of the summer. Several new features are planned for the dahlia show this year and an entertaining program is already assured.

Store Building

Having made arrangements for a "community wall," J. B. Brown has signed with Dick Michel, contractor and builder, of Glendale, to erect a one-story building next to the Kumaus building now being erected by the Brown firm on Eagle Rock boulevard, near Colorado boulevard. The stores in the building will be for lease as soon as it is completed. It will have pressed brick front and be a presentable addition to the business district. Although Mr. Michel is a builder he has found it convenient to give Mr. Brown the contract for the structure.

Garbage and tin cans will be collected, under a newly instituted system, according to the following schedule: Taking Colorado boulevard as the dividing line, garbage will be collected on Monday and Thursday on the north side, with the can collection on Tuesday. The garbage will be taken up on Wednesday and Saturday, south of the boulevard and the cans collected on Friday.

Mrs. Wm. Beach, who has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Beach, of Eagle Rock boulevard, has returned to her home in New York.

TRUSTEES REPEAL CITY ORDINANCE

More or Less Trouble Over Licensing of Business Since Law Passed

BURBANK, June 19.—The City Trustees at their last meeting repealed Ordinance 175, pertaining to the licensing of business, shows, exhibitions and games conducted or carried on within the city limits. It is understood that the body is in the process of framing a new ordinance to take the place of the old one and that some of the fees in the old license will be retained while others will be changed .

Ordinance 175 has been the subject of more or less contention since it was approved June 20, 1922. It was framed at the request of the trades and others, and in many instances was unanimously accepted by those directly involved, but it was no sooner put into effect than dissatisfaction arose on all sides, some claiming the fees were too high, others too low for protection and whether the authorities attempted to enforce the ordinance or to ignore it, the objections were just as violent. By the framing of the new ordinance it is hoped by the Trustees that those affected will be better satisfied.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Schwald of Kansas City, relatives of the Misses Norris, have arrived. After spending a short time visiting Southern California the Schwalds will leave on an extended trip to Alaska. Mr. Schwald is a wealthy oil man and has thousands of acres of oil land in Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Fairfield have moved from the rear of 561 Angeleno avenue to San Jose, the former home town of Mrs. Fairfield. Mr. Fairfield, who has been working with an oil company, has been transferred to San Jose.

Forest Protection Measures Are Urged

SUNLAND, June 19.—At a recent meeting of the Valley Center Improvement league, held at George Shaffer's residence on Walnut drive, the members went unanimously on record as being in favor of drastic measures for the prevention of fires in the hill districts during the coming dry months, when all vegetation is a menace to property by reason of its inflammability. Urgent need of the clearing of vacant lots of brush and refuse was stressed in speeches by several of the members. Fire wardens are prepared to strictly enforce the regulations covering the clearing of property and burning of anything in the danger zone.

EXERCISES MARK SCHOOL CLOSING

Supt. R. D. White to Address La Crescenta Pupils At Graduation

LA CRESCENTA, June 19.—These are busy days at the La Crescenta school, with parties, programs and stunt shows. Yesterday morning the eighth grade gave a dramatized version of the story of Evangeline.

Mrs. Greenberg, who put on the play, deserves a great deal of credit. The costuming was carried out to the minutest detail throughout, those of the redcoats making a brilliant splash of color in an otherwise somber picture. Mrs. Greenberg was assisted in making the costumes by Scout Captain Jessie Hansen.

List of Players

The cast was as follows: Evangeline, Louise Rogers; priest, Paul McOsker; Gabriel, Basil Brooks; Basil, Neil Darby; doctor, Dale Craig; Benedict, Kenneth Wesson; Notary Le Blanc, Elmer Adkins; Madame Le Blanc, Mildred Maranville; Michel, the fiddler, William Sprinkle; captain of the red coats, Roy Peck; drummer, Frank Hopkins; soldiers, A. Biggs, L. B. Key, H. Coke, William Key and Archie Potter; altar boys, John Hansen and Jack MacDonald.

On Friday, June 20, there will be two graduating exercises held in the La Crescenta school auditorium. At 9 o'clock in the morning the children will witness all of the exercises with the exception of the talk to be delivered by Richardson D. White of the Glendale schools. The program will be given in the evening for parents and friends of the graduates and no children will be admitted to the affair unless accompanied by parents or some adult.

Program Is Given

The program is as follows: Invocation, Rev. George Durr of Montrose Community Methodist church; song, "At Close of Day," Glee club; song, "Mountain Lakes" (G. Donauroff), Girls' Glee club; "Playgrounds," written and read by Jack McDonald; "Hark, Hark, the Lark" (Schubert), graduating class; "Morning Song" (Wolf Ferrier), sung by the Glee club; "Call of the Open Road," written and read by Mildred Maranville; "Whispers of Hope," sung by Helen Haskins and Marjorie Brown; address by Richardson D. White, superintendent of the Glendale schools.

GYPSY MOON HAS NOVEL FEATURES

Sleeping Room and Cooking Outfit Joy to Motor Camping Parties

The joys of motor traveling and vacation camping trips are materially enhanced by the equipment that comes with the new Gypsy Moon that the Penn Motor Co., 510 East Broadway, local distributors of the car, is showing just now to those who plan to spend their summer out of doors.

The interior of the car is so arranged that both front and back seats can be arranged to form a comfortable bed about 7 feet long, and at the rear of the car is a large, dust-proof trunk that contains a complete cooking outfit, with utensils sufficient for six people. The kit includes a gasoline cooking stove, a water tank with about four gallons capacity, silverware of excellent quality—in fact, everything that tends to eliminate the discomfort of traveling and of preparing meals in the open.

"In addition to the other features the balloon tires with which the car is equipped add to the riding comfort and the four-wheel hydraulic brakes insure the safety of the motorists," says O. W. Penn, the head of the agency, who reports that business here is showing a steady improvement.

blessings that lie beyond the threshold."

It was an ideal day for a picnic outing, and the delicious luncheon arranged by Mrs. C. L. Viereck and her committee, was greatly enjoyed at the tables spread under the oak trees. Bouquets of white Shasta daisies and yellow cosmos were used in decoration.

Guests of Honor

At the table of honor were seated Mr. Lummis, Richardson D. White, Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. Shelton Bissell, Mrs. O. H. Spradling, Mrs. H. V. Henry, Mrs. A. A. Barton, Mrs. E. B. More, Mrs. H. Silliker, Mrs. A. M. Rowe, Misses Eva Daniels, Corinne Orff and Katherine V. Sinks.

Members of the reception committee were Mesdames A. M. Rowe, E. B. Moore, C. M. Taylor, Mae Rosenberg and C. H. Thompson.

Many women who have taken part in the Circle during its eight years of existence, but who are not numbered among the 160 members now, were present yesterday for a happy reunion with old friends.

After the luncheon a clever song, written by Mrs. C. H. Crawford, was sung, and then Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman of the Circle, introduced Mrs. Silliker as toastmistress.

Greet Mrs. Toll

Through a prettily worded tribute to Mrs. Toll, whom she named "Queen Eleanor," Mrs. Silliker transported the company into a fairyland court, where princesses and other notables were presented.

First, however, Mrs. A. M. Higgins, who represented Mrs. Toll and read her message, was crowned queen. Then Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. A. A. Barton, Mrs. H. V. Henry, Mr. White, Mrs. Bissell, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Spradling, were all presented as court notables and each gave a message.

Bouquets of lovely flowers were presented to Mrs. Henry, chairman, and Mrs. A. A. Barton, past chairman of the Circle.

Another greeting read to the company came from Mrs. Mary W. Archibald, chairman of the county reading circles.

PLAN TO ENLARGE SCHOOL BUILDING

Increase In Attendance Is Trustee's Motive for Two-Room Addition

TUJUNGA, June 19.—A two-room addition will be built to the present school building at Pine and El Centro streets this summer to accommodate the increased attendance that is expected at the fall term when school re-opens. Bids have been called for by the trustees, and work will begin as soon as they can be submitted and contracts let and executed.

This action is deemed advisable by the trustees, in view of the phenomenal increase in attendance during the year just closed. It was necessary to employ several additional teachers to handle the overflow before the first term of the year was a month old.

Eight Class Rooms

With the addition of two rooms there will be eight class rooms besides the various executive and store rooms and the auditorium, which has just been completed this spring. The old wooden buildings used before the permanent concrete structures were begun three years ago, have never been abandoned.

Bond Capacity Limited

Owing to the limited bonding capacity of the district, the construction of the units of the new school plant has been slower than the demand for additional rooms. Bonds to the amount of $10,500, recently voted, have been sold, bringing a premium of $129.15. This money will be used in building the two rooms proposed.

The school trustees propose to add new units to the school plant as fast as the increased assessed valuation will permit bonding in the district. This program of permanent construction will continue until the building program overtakes the increase in attendance.

For Young Children

Some time during the summer months the trustees propose to move one of the bungalow class rooms from Pine and El Centro streets to the school property on Palm avenue, in the western part of Tujunga. This building will be used by the small children of that district for classes in first and second grade work. The small children of the western section have found it a hardship to have to travel to the Pine Street school.

In following this plan the trustees point out that the only practicable way to meet the student housing problem in Tujunga is to devote all the money available to permanent construction on the Pine and El Centro streets property, using temporary buildings at Palm avenue until such a time as the status of that district is definitely established.

See Consolidation

The Palm avenue site is on the western limits of Tujunga, at the boundary line of the Monte Vista (Sunland) district, and the trustees believe that these two districts will be consolidated within a time that will render inadequate any buildings erected under the present circumstances.

They point out that this site is ideal for a central school plant in the event of consolidation, at which time a building program suitable to residents of both sections could be worked out. The trustees also maintain that any permanent building for the Palm avenue site should be planned to meet the needs of this potential union and the cost of construction should be paid by the taxpayers of the consolidated district, and not by those of the Tujunga district alone.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

E.—You are not interested in reducing your weight, but you do want to reduce a bunion.

Bunions are partial dislocations of the great toe. Eventually the toe joint becomes enlarged and inflamed and the bursa or sack on the joint becomes invoved. Now may come a corn on that. This makes multiple misery. Bunions are always caused by the wearing at some time of shoes that did not fit, usually those that were too short. It is highly important that children have shoes long and large enough to allow for their growth.

The only real cure for bunions is the operative removal of the projecting joint. Temporary helps are bunion plasters and, of course, correct fitting shoes. Soaking the feet in hot water with a heaping tablespoon of epsom salts to the quart, will relieve the swelling and the pain.

"Dear Doctor—I have been following your directions for reducing for two months and have lost 22 pounds. I overdid it the last few weeks, so I am taking a rest now for a few days. It is rather hard for me to get enough vegetables and greens at this time of the year, but I must keep it up, if possible.—Mrs. D."

Your reduction was at the rate of 11 pounds a month. After the first loss following the three-day shrinking-stomach period, which will amount to from five to ten pounds, I advise a loss of not more than two pounds a week. Generally, if you lose more than this, you will not be supplying your system with the elements it needs, and you will reduce other tissues as well as the fat. This means ill health.

Many of our followers have lost at an even greater rate than you, and apparently without ill effects, but it is better to be on the safe side. I am glad you are resting a little now. By the time this appears in the column it will be summer and your vegetable problem will be solved.

Mrs. J.—You say you are suffering from callousness. You don't state where. I hope they are not on your soul, but on your sole ('s awful—worse, 's terrible).

Callous spots on the bottom of the feet indicate a falling of the anterior arch of the foot. The toe bones press down and cause more pressure and pain. You had better go to an orthopedic surgeon and have him fit arch supports for you. For the temporary relief, go to a chiropodist and have the callous spots cut off. Or, if you do it carefully, you can pare them off yourself, after soaking in hot water with a tablespoonful of soda to the quart of water. Get some of these little safety razor blades that have only one edge.

If you are afraid you are not skillful enough to do this without cutting yourself, use the corn remedy made from a solution of one dram—about a level teaspoonful) of salcylic acid and one ounce of flexible collodion. Apply for three or four nights; then the callous spots can usually be gently pulled off after soaking the feet. If you will strap a piece of adhesive around your foot that will help you also.

Mrs. K.—You must see a skin specialist for your disorder, and you should have a thorough physical examination also to determine the cause of your headaches. There are so many possible causes; eye strain, improper diet, constipation, lack of fresh air, lack of exercises and other hygienic measures, nicotine poisoning, ear troubles, and so forth.

J. H.—No, catarrhal affections of the nose and passages leading out from it, are not thought to lead to cancer. You may have to have an operation in order to get good drainage. Meanwhile, are you getting sufficient vitamin and mineral elements—in general, a balanced diet? We know that a catarrhal condition can be brought about by a diet lacking in vitamins and mineral elements. Include in your diet every day at least one-half to one pound of green salads and one-half pound or so of other vegetables and fruits and two or three glasses of milk.

Mrs. A.—Send for our artices on Acidosis and High Blood Pressure. Inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a.s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

BEAUTIFUL CHILDREN

Every mother wants to feel that her children are beautiful. At least, if by no stretch of the imagination can she think them beautiful she wants to feel they have charm, that they are "interesting looking." By taking a little thought, and no extra time at all, she can have them as charming as she desires.

How? Well, by example, by suggestion, by teaching. This is not a moral sermon. This is just a little hint about applying psychology to the training of children. If the mother takes pains about the proper shampooing of her hair, its brushing and arranging, and tells her daughters how necessary it is to do so, won't they take naturally to the good methods shown them? If she takes care of her complexion, her teeth, her finger nails, her children will do the same with theirs. Children are all little imitative monkeys.

It takes no more time to brush a child's hair in a becoming way than an ugly one; it takes only the thinking out of which style best suits the child's face. It takes no longer to make a picturesque simple dress for a girl, than to make one whose lines and trimming are all wrong. It takes no longer to choose an attractive color, than an unattractive one. All of which does sound like moralizing. I don't mean it so. I was really thinking of a certain slender, snub-nosed little girl, whose tasteless mother dressed her in plaid ginghams with pipings and bias bands and did her hair in plaits, and then moaned over her ugliness. She went to live with her aunt, who bobbed her limp, thin hair, and put her into golden yellow and rose color crepe smocks, untrimmed excepting for smocking. She was transformed.

Insurance Girl—Hot water is very relaxing and that would be the only objection to using it constantly for washing the face; however, this effect can be overcome if the rinsing is in cool and finally very cold water. Hot water will not make the skin sallow. The starch bleach will not remove freckles. When making an eye wash with boracic acid use a teespoonful to a pint of water. Boil the water first to make it sterile.

Miss E. M. S.—At 24 years, height five feet one inch, weight should be between 115 and 120 pounds.

To remove the griminess in the skin resulting from the fur collar, apply hot wet cloths over the skin, and then massage with a cleansing cream. Remove cream and close pores with very cold water.

Tomorrow—Feed the Finger Nails

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be asnwered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

PLAYWRIGHT BUYS LOCAL PROPERTY

Deal Made by Dietrich Realty Company Through Help of News Classified Ad

Jean Havez, well-known Los Angeles playwright and scenarist, had a desire to dispose of his residence in Los Angeles and come to Glendale to reside, and through Fred Perry of the Dietrich Realty company of 133½ South Brand boulevard, Mr. Havez' desire was given expression in the classified columns of The Glendale Evening News, and a satisfactory deal closed representing close to $50,000.

The advertisement appearing in The Evening News came to the attention of Mrs. M. McEnany of Glendale, who is summering at Santa Monica. Mr. Havez wanted to trade his Los Angeles home for Glendale income, residential or vacant property. Mrs. McEnany had just the property to suit him so negotiations were started and concluded immediately and Mr. Havez becomes a loyal Glendalian, and also an interested reader of The Evening News.

Incidentally, the Dietrich Realty company, always a firm believer in the results of this newspaper's classified columns, is highly pleased with the quick results obtained for Mr. Havez.

SIGNS HELP SAFETY OF AUTOISTS

Thirty Kinds of Markers on State Highways Guide All Motorists

"By this sign ye shall know." This was not written of the highway markers in Southern California, but it might well apply. This season, more than ever before, will the motorist have his pathway pointed out by enameled steel signs and his safety assured by warnings of grades, railway crossings, slippery hills, fire stations and dangerous corners.

A check shows that in the 30,000 miles of paved and secondary highways in this section there are placed nearly 115,000 signs, of more than thirty classifications.

Auto Club's Work

The job of bringing this high state of efficiency has been going on for ten years and is still going strong. The work is done by the sign posting department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, which has twenty-one men and seven trucks in this service. During the past twelve months these trucks have covered 122,441 miles, or a distance equal to nearly five times around the world.

So completely has the work been done that today about 70 per cent of the effort is in maintenance and renewals. Last year there were placed 7,000 signs looking to safety of drivers. Temporary signs denoting detours, closed roads, danger, etc., numbered 6,422 and direction signs 6,566.

While this service primarily began for the benefit of club members, the sign posting is one service that every resident motorist has cause to appreciate and it is especially valuable to the 250,-

MURPHY HAS MOUNT ON MILLER

Winner of 1921 Grand Prix Gets Pilot's Post in European Races

Jimmy Murphy, the winner of the 1921 French Grand Prix, has been commissioned to drive Count Zborowski's eight-cylinder Miller in both the European Grand Prix at Lyons, on August 3, and the Italian Grand Prix on Monza track next September, according to a Paris dispatch to Automobile Industries.

This will be Murphy's third appearance in Europe, for he drove a Miller in the Monza track 500-mile race last year, finishing third.

Twenty-two Entries

There will be twenty-two starters in the French race, as follows:

1—Sunbeam, H. O. D. Segrave.
2—Delage, Rene Thomas.
3—Alfa-Romeo, Count Masetti.
4—Schmid, Jules Goux.
5—Fiat, Felice Nazzaro.
6—Miller, Jimmy Murphy.
7—Bugatti, Pierre de Vizcaya.
8—Sunbeam, K. Lee Guinness.
9—Delage, R. Benoist.
10—Alfa-Romeo, Ascari.
11—Schmid, Foresti.
12—Fiat, Pietro Bordino.
13—Bugatti, Ernest Friedrich.
14—Sunbeam, Dario Resta.
15—Delage, Albert Divo.
16—Alfa-Romeo, Campari.
17—Fiat, Salamano.
18—Bugatti, Prince of Cystria.
19—Alfa-Romeo, Louis Wagner.
20—Fiat, Pastore.
21—Bugatti, Constantini.
22—Bugatti, Marco.

Supercharger engines are likely to dominate in the European Grand Prix. Fiat will make use of this device on the straight eights, which are last year's cars rebuilt, and will doubtless use it

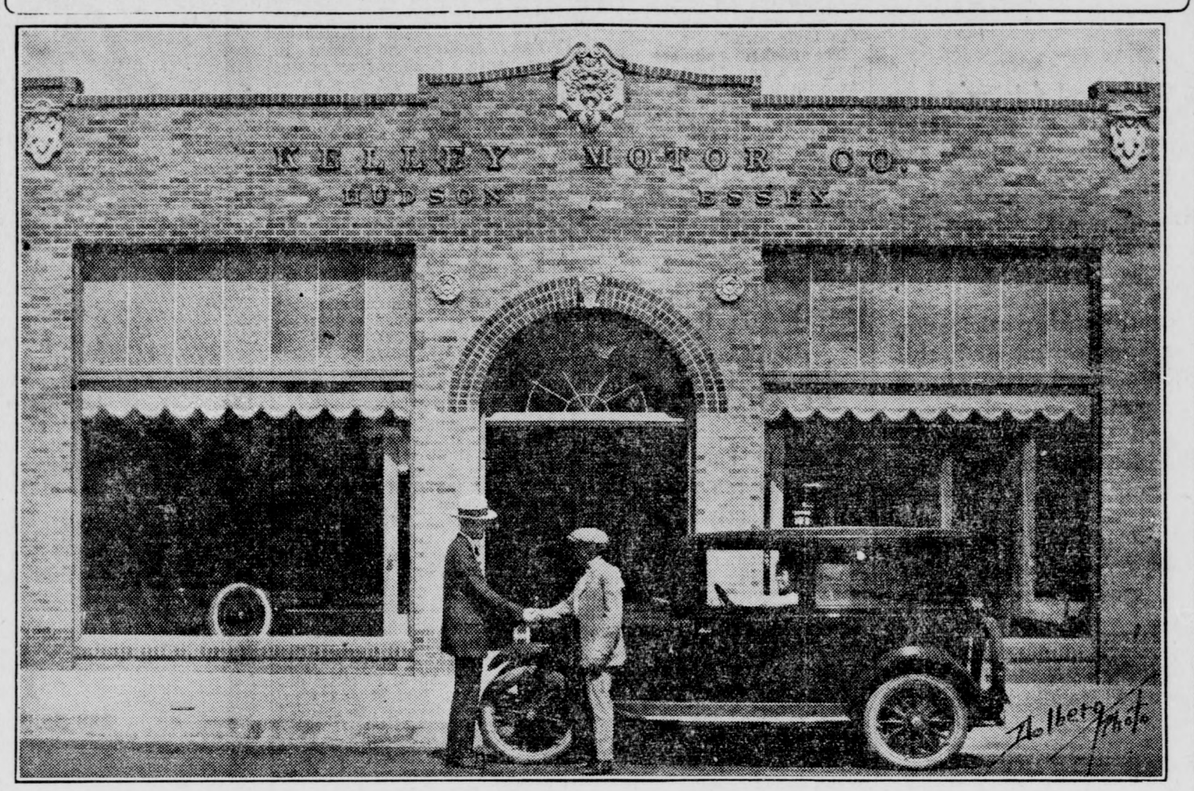
Back From Lengthy Jaunt In Car

P. A. KELLEY, left, welcomes C. L. DAVISSON and MRS. DAVISSON home after their long journey to wonders of the Northland, and congratulates them on the wonderful record of gasoline, water and oil consumption shown by their ESSEX COACH. The building in the background is the home of the KELLEY MOTOR COMPANY, 816 South Brand boulevard, where Hudson and Essex cars are sold in Glendale.



MR. AND MRS. DAVISSON MAKE 2500-MILE TRIP AS PART OF VACATION

Low Gasoline, Water and Oil Consumption Surprises; Visit Three High Lakes and See Famous Boiling Springs

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

If you want to know where the fish bite best, where the roads are good and bad, where the geysers boil, what kind of car to take for real comfort on a long trip, how much water, gas and oil you ought to use and a couple hundred other important facts which go to make a motor camping trip one of the utmost pleasure, then see Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Davisson, of 1047 Elmwood avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Davisson have recently returned from a motor camping trip that covered a little better than 2,500 miles and took them to some of the most scenic spots in the state. It was a vacation trip, but since Mr. Davisson, who is superintendent for the B. F. Farley Construction company, of Burbank, could get away only for a short time, the journey was made in nine days.

Used Essex Coach

Now, if you were planning a vacation trip, and sought the advice of Mr. and Mrs. Davisson, the first thing they would tell you would be that they found the maximum amount of comfort in the new 1924 Essex coach, and the hardships and inconveniences which other persons generally find on such a long journey, were entirely missing.

"Why," Mr. Davisson says, "I have driven my Essex coach for a little better than 12,000 miles, and the only expenses I have had in the way of repairs or overhauling total just 75 cents, no more and no less. And those six bits went for a new fan belt. I have the same tires on it that were on the car when I bought if from Kelley Motor company, 816 South Brand boulevard.

"Now, here is another thing you won't believe. We traveled over some pretty rough roads, and climbed some steep hills on our motor camping trip, and our average was between 25 and 26 miles to the gallon of gasoline. And, listen to this,—we never put in water only when we stopped to have the gas tank filled up, and then the water we used was never more than a quart at a time. As far as oil was concerned, we used a little under seven quarts on the entire trip, which was 2,500 miles."

Slept in Coach

There was no occasion for taking along a lot of camping equipment, Mr. Davisson said. The construction of the Essex coach body and the arrangements of the seats made it possible to fix a bed within the car.

"Ten minutes after we stopped for the night, the bed was ready," he said, "and the next morning we were ready to hit the road again ten minutes after opening our eyes. There is no cumbersome equipment, either. All we had to do was fold the backs of the front seats forward, put a little block under the seat to bring it up to the same level as the rear

4-WHEEL BRAKES SAFETY FACTORS

Buick Official Says Adoption Is Justified by Year's Tests on Autos

Experience with four-wheel brakes lasting for almost a year shows that they are recognized as an important factor in the safety of motorists, in the opinion of Ray L. Galvin, sales manager of Tanner and Hall, Ltd., Buick dealers, at South Brand boulevard and Maple street.

"It was freely predicted at first," asserts Mr. Galvin, "that the four-wheel brakes would prove impracticable. But what has happened? Thousands of official tests that have been conducted by traffic divisions of police departments in cities all over the country have shown beyond the slightest question that they are one of the biggest safety advances ever introduced in the manufacture of motor cars.

"In fact, the heads of many traffic divisions have expressed themselves as favoring an ordinance forbidding the sale of any car not equipped with four-wheel brakes.

"The four-wheel brakes that are standard on all Buick cars have been endorsed strongly by motorists all over the country, thus justifying the course of the Buick concern in adopting these safety factors on all cars. The Buick brakes are built by the Buick plant and the model in use was only approved after a series of tests that covered a period of long and careful investigation of every kind of four-wheel brake on the market.

EXPERIENCE AIDS IN BUILDING CAR

Spring Suspension of Engine Assures Maxwell Owners Of Real Comfort

The experience of twenty years and the knowledge gained in the building of two million cars are embodied in the construction of the good Maxwell cars, according to Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Car company, 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell and Chrysler distributors, in reviewing the startling growth of the Maxwell cars in popular favor since Walter P. Chrysler assumed charge of the organization.

"In the matter of the elimination of vibration alone," says Mr. Clark, "the good Maxwell marks a big advance, through the adoption of the spring suspension principle for the engine, instead of having it bolted rigidly in place. This makes not only for greater ease of riding, but it prolongs the life of the car to a degree greater than has been accomplished by almost any other factor in engineering improvements.

"It is not unusual for Maxwell owners to run their cars over 18,000 miles on one set of tires, and owners all over the country are getting better than 22 miles to the gallon of gasoline, results that can only be obtained when the car they drive is perfectly balanced and when the engineering features are based on the latest adoption of the scientific principles. On these two points alone, the good Maxwell challenges any other four-cylinder car on the market today."

NARROW ESCAPES AS AUTOS CRASH

Child Struck by Car Leaves Hospital; Woman's Arm Hurt In Collision

Three automobile accidents, none of them fatal, occurred yesterday afternoon and last night. N. F. Neugebauer of 702 East Elk avenue was in a collision at East Broadway and Glendale avenue with a car driven by J. L. Bolen of 206 West Broadway. Mrs. F. J. Neugebauer received minor injuries of the arm.

Betty Ryan, 8 years old, of 343 El Bonita street, Los Angeles, was struck by a car driven by A. F. Miller of 408 West Garfield avenue. She was taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital and remained there over night, being taken home this morning.

E. H. Wynn of 538 Howard street, driving a car last night, turned over at the intersection of Doran and Louise streets, and was pinned underneath.

SAFETY SIGNALS GUIDE AUTOISTS

Automobile Club's Service on State Highways Is of Immense Scope

000 visitors from other states who come to Southern California to view the scenic beauties and for recreation.

The perfection of the system was aided by having one strong organization in charge of the work, enabling it to be standardized and kept up by experienced engineers constantly on the job. Although the investment reaches a large figure, more than $48,000 last year, the auto club bears the burden alone and does not call upon the state, counties or cities for financial aid. It is expected that the new signs, renewals and maintenance this year will cost $120,000, but it has been stated repeatedly that if the auto club had performed no other service than this, it would have amply justified its existence.

also on two special cars now under construction and regarding which no information has been given out.

Delage has fitted a supercharger to the twelve-cylinder V-type engine which was used last year and has also in hand a straight eight two-stroke with a supercharger built to Zoller patents.

Sunbeam has built a supercharger into last year's six-cylinder racing engines and claims an increase of 33 per cent in the power output at all engine speeds above 2,000 revolutions. Experiments with a supercharger are being made on the cuff-valve Schmids, the Miller and the Italian Alfa-Romeos. Ettore Bugatti announces that he will run his straight eights without a supercharger.

SALES TOTAL IS OVER LAST YEAR'S

Studebaker Figures Higher Than First Half of '23, Says Executive

Comparison of the records established last year with those to date in 1924, show that the Packer Auto company, 245 South Brand boulevard, Studebaker dealers, are ahead of last year's figures by a handsome margin, according to R. L. Conover, sales manager, who states that prospects for the immediate future indicate that this condition will prevail for some time to come.

"The big demand at present," says Mr. Conover, "is for open models, but even so the closed models are running close to the open ones. Closed cars now are hard to obtain, on account of the unprecedented swing to these styles during the past year, but with the coming of the warmer weather the open cars are coming into their own."

The Packer Auto company is showing a new Light Six touring car, with natural wood wheels and balloon tires, on which the firm is prepared to make immediate delivery. The Light Six in all models, it is stated, is going steadily, and a large percentage of the factory output is in this size, which is steadily growing in popularity as motorists learn its sterling qualities.

USES 254 MILES OF TUBING DAILY

Copper for Ford Radiators Runs to Huge Figures In Yearly Total

It takes more than 254 miles of copper tubing a day to supply just one requirement in the radiator department of the Ford Motor Company's plant at Highland Park, Detroit, under the present high production schedule. In other words, the copper tubing used annually for Ford radiators would go round the world three times, or if bent into a circle with the earth in the center, it would stand 8,000 miles away from the earth's surface.

The radiator department is called upon to produce 9,000 radiators a day and materials necessary to attain this output run into surprising figures. In addition to the copper tubing, of which 95 pieces 18⅞ inches long go into every radiator, other materials used in a single day's production of radiators comprises 38 tons of sheet steel, 6 tons of terne plate, 67 tons of brass, 9 tons of solder, 18,000 malleable castings, more than 4 miles of brass tubing for drain and 1,068 gallons of acid.

In making of a single radiator 140 operations are necessary and every step of the manufacturing process requires unusual care.

seat, put a piece of composition board across, and roll down the blankets. In the morning we just rolled up the blankets and let them ride on the back seat.

"We were always comfortable. One day we ran into rain, snow and hail in what they call the Big Valley, near Fallriver Mills, near Aden. We put up the windows and kept right on going. When we got out of the storm, belt, it was only a matter of seconds to lower the windows, and enjoy plenty of crisp, cool mountain air."

Visit Northern Spots

Starting out on their trip, Mr. and Mrs. Davisson followed the inland route through Bakersfield, Fresno, Modesto and Merced to Sacramento. A short way out of Sacramento they left the paved road and headed for Redding. Beyond Redding they entered the Pitt River Canyon and followed it most of the way to Alturas, the county seat of Modoc county.

Alturas is 744 miles from Glendale and is the nearest town of any size to Clear Lake. This Clear Lake is one of the three bodies having that name in the state. It is located at an elevation of approximately 8,000 feet and is reached only by mountain roads that are rough, steep and winding. There is excellent fishing at the lake, Mr. Davisson found. The nights are unusually cold, and on some occasions, ice forms at night even in midsummer.

After staying one night at Clear Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Davisson went over Chilcoot pass to Lake Tahoe, where they camped one night. On the road to the lake they encountered some more rough roads, mostly uphill, but Mr. Davisson reports the Essex coach took them just like it did all the others, with very little effort.

See Boiling Springs

From Lake Tahoe they returned to Sacramento and headed for another Clear Lake, this time in Lake county. About 20 miles out of Sacramento, just beyond Winters, the paved road disappeared and the rest of the route to Clear Lake was over varied types of road. In some places volcanic substances had been used in making the road. Other spots were gravel, while others were stretches of hard-surfaced roads of fair quality.

The most thrilling part of the trip, they reported, was at The Geysers, east of Cloverdale. They entered the place through Healdsburg, but returned to the main road at Cloverdale. The geysers are located in a small canyon, and the springs are so close together that one has to walk with care to keep from falling into the sissling pools.

The route followed is springy, caused by the compression of rocks under a terrific heat pressure years and years ago. The steam is 99 per cent dry and is used for commercial purposes. At a depth of 100 feet, wells produce steam having a temperature of 100 degrees Farenheit, with a pressure of 62 pounds to the square inch.

Visit Redwood Forests

From Cloverdale, they went to Santa Rosa, after passing through the redwood forest. At Santa Rosa they traveled to Point Reyes, a wild spot on the coast, reached by following a road that requires utmost skill in handling a car and plenty of power under the hood. En route they passed through more redwood forests, while nearer the coast, big pine forests were found.

The full beauty of Mt. Shasta and Lassen peak, the only active volcano in the United States, can only be seen from the road that Mr. and Mrs. Davisson traveled from Redding to Clear Lake in Modoc county, they reported. It is an inspiring sight, they said, to see the sides of Mt. Shasta covered with snow, standing out, as Mrs. Davisson describes it, "as a big lump of pure sugar."

The return trip to Glendale was made by the way of San Francisco, Santa Cruz, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Ventura and Castiac, along the coast highway. Near Santa Cruz they visited the large area set aside by the state as a park where thousands of giant redwood trees are protected and preserved for future generations.

Under the leadership of Lloyd Nix, commander, the well trained San Pedro initiatory team put on their unique ceremonial.

Following the meeting "eats" were served and an informal time enjoyed until midnight.

MAXWELL

Revolutionary Results Told By Walter P. Chrysler

Revolutionary riding and driving results have come rapidly during the past year in the development of both the Chrysler and the Maxwell.

They are the fruit of an experience which bridges 20 years and the manufacture of some 2,000,000 cars.

During recent months, with participation of the Chrysler engineering staff, this experience has culminated sharply in refinements of the most important character, which set the good Maxwell above and beyond four-cylinder cars as you have always known them.

The great crying demand of the motoring public today is for removal of vibration and consequently greater ease of riding and driving.

And the good Maxwell now answers that demand in a way no four-cylinder car has ever done before.

Owners are now averaging 18,000 miles and more to a set of tires; better than 22 miles per gallon; grinding valves, setting up tappets and removing carbon only at long intervals; main bearings rarely if ever replaced.

Our assurance—my personal assurance, without reservation—is that the good Maxwell is the car to satisfy you on all counts; and that it will satisfy you if you give it the chance.

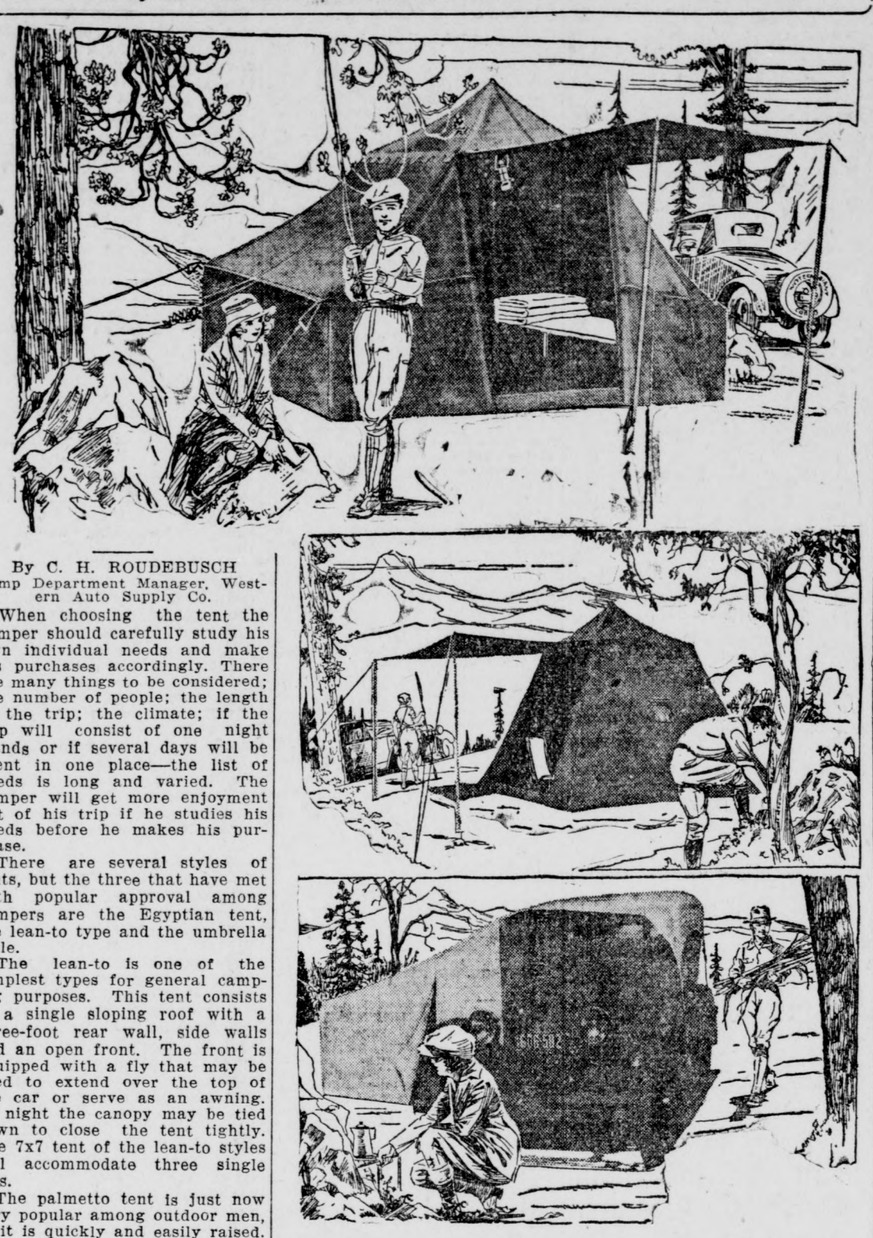
Tent Is Camping Factor

The Burch Egyptian style tent, shown at the top, is adapted for four or more persons. In the middle is the khaki Palmetto and below is the popular lean-to type. These tents are featured by the WESTERN AUTO SUPPLY CO.



By C. H. ROUDEBUSCH
Camp Department Manager, Western Auto Supply Co.

When choosing the tent the camper should carefully study his own individual needs and make his purchases accordingly. There are many things to be considered; the number of people; the length of the trip; the climate; if the trip will consist of one night stands or if several days will be spent in one place—the list of needs is long and varied. The camper will get more enjoyment out of his trip if he studies his needs before he makes his purchase.

There are several styles of tents, but the three that have met with popular approval among campers are the Egyptian tent, the lean-to type and the umbrella style.

The lean-to is one of the simplest types for general camping purposes. This tent consists of a single sloping roof with a three-foot rear wall, side walls and an open front. The front is equipped with a fly that may be used to extend over the top of the car or serve as an awning. At night the canopy may be tied down to close the tent tightly. The 7x7 tent of the lean-to styles will accommodate three single cots.

The palmetto tent is just now very popular among outdoor men, as it is quickly and easily raised. There is but one jointed pole to erect and no guy ropes to bother with. The khaki palmetto is equipped with a sewed in floor that excludes snakes, rodents and all like unwelcome visitors that might happen in. Good ventilation is secured by means of two screened windows that are equipped with shades. The front of the tent when raised, provides an ideal canopy.

The big de luxe auto tent is designed after the handsome old Egyptian tents and will provide the camper with a real home while on the tour. It has a pyramid top with a sloping roof to the 30-inch side walls. It will accomodate two full size beds and leave a four-foot dressing space. It is equipped with an extra fly for the side of the canopy, and is also fitted with a bob fly for the door. This tent and sewed-in floor is both mildew proof and water proof.

For those who wish to spend more than a day or two at one location this type of tent cannot be equaled.

OVERLAND ISSUES BUSINESS COUPE

B. W. Sloan, Inc. Show Latest Model Turned Out by Toledo Factory

The latest output of the Willys-Overland factories is the Business Coupe, a two-passenger vehicle, that is large enough to hold three, in a pinch, and a car that possesses the advantage of being easily entered from either side, due to its extra wide doors.

B. W. Sloan, head of B. W. Sloan, Inc., 228 South Brand boulevard, the local Willys-Overland dealer, is showing one of these new cars at present and emphasizes the fact that it is the model car for the salesman, the doctor or the man in any line of business who has to have economical transportation but who yet desires to ride in a machine that ministers to his pride in its good looks and in its ability to appear to advantage in any company.

"The extra amount of leg room in the Business Coupe," he says, "the large luggage compartment at the rear and the handsome interior trim, coupled with the fundamental, in-built merit of the Overland, make this the car that the business man has been looking for, a car that is full of life and energy and that is at home in any kind of traffic and on every kind of road."

WHITNALL TALKS ON ROAD FINANCE

Planning Expert Favors Tax On City Property to Aid Highway Fund

The financing of major highway improvement work was the topic of the address delivered before the Glendale Realty board yesterday in the Alley Inn by G. Gordon Whitnall, president of the Los Angeles County Planning commission, in which he dwelt at length on the proposed widening of San Fernando road.

The prospects for the immediate widening of this boulevard, he declared, are not very bright, and he analyzed the traffic that flows along San Fernando road, stating that it is through traffic flowing between the north and south parts of the state, with the additional flow that comes in from the territory on each side, but that is of little or no value to Glendale because of its through character.

Work in Unison

"The improvement of the through traffic arteries," said Mr. Whitnall, "should be carried out by the cities working in unison, working toward the establishment of a system of highways that will permit the unhampered flow of traffic without having one stretch widened here to leave a narrow neck or a dead end at any one point.

"These projects should be handled as in one civic structure that must be administered as a unit, and the traffic highways must be segregated from the city streets proper and must be financed singly."

Offers Solution

As a solution of the present financial problems on highway building, he stated that a plan is now being considered by which city property would be taxed on the same basis as county property, 45 cents per $100 valuation, to help finance the county road fund.

Other highway improvement projects on which Mr. Whitnall laid stress were the construction of a bridge across the Los Angeles river at the western end of Colorado street, which, he declared, is practically assured as a part of the program for the development of Riverside drive, the route of which has been definitely determined and which is now partly in existence.

Fletcher Project

The line of this boulevard through Griffith Park has been established as a result of the definition of the river channel by the engineers of the flood control commission.

The Fletcher avenue project, which is a continuation of the Foothill boulevard, will shortly be completed, and this, he maintained, will divert from Glendale a lot of through traffic that would otherwise tax the capacity of the city streets without bringing any benefit to the city, by affording a direct route to the sea.

J. W. Jennings, field man for the California Real Estate association, spoke briefly on the progress that is being made in raising the standards of the realtor's profession.

The thirteenth lecture on the educational course will be delivered next week by Thomas W. Watson.

W. L. Truitt stated that the location of the annual picnic to be held June 28 is still to be determined.

BATTERY CHARGE CUTS DOWN LOSS

Willard Co. Solves Problem Of Deterioration by New Improvement

"Another great improvement in storage batteries was recently announced by one of the most consistent producers of better batteries in the industry. It is a battery which will reach the user in as new a condition as when it left the factory for the service station shelves or the car manufacturers' stock," says Henry Kuhn, of Cizek Auto Electric Co., 300 South Brand boulevard.

"To deliver an absolutely new battery to the user months after it was made has always been considered impossible because wood separators, the only alternative to Threaded Rubber Insulation, an exclusive feature in Willards, must be maintained wet. This permitted chemical action in the battery plates and the consequent deterioration of the battery from its birth. Every day that elapsed between the time the battery was finished at the factory to the day it was placed in active service was a day of its most useful life lost to the consumer.

"But now all this loss has become a thing of the past. A new process makes it possible to deliver the battery to the user fully charged without the loss or delay incident to putting it on the service station charging line.

INVESTMENTS

By GEORGE T. HUGHES
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

A bunch of sharpers miscalling themselves brokers called up an advertising man and tried to sell him stock. The man asked me about the outfit and I suggested that he let them try to sell him, to learn what tricks they employed. When the cat and dog salesman couldn't quite convince his supposed customer, he suggested that the advertising man call up their bankers. He named a small city bank. The advertising man complied. The reply he got from the bank was:

"They carry a very satisfactory balance with us. Our business with them has always been satisfactory. So far as we know they are all right."

"Don't you know that they are bucket shop swindlers," the advertising man asked. "Do you, a reputable banker, recommend such people?"

"What did they offer you?" asked the banker.

The advertising man named an excellent Standard Oil stock.

"There you are," said the banker. "Anything wrong with that?"

A few days later the state's attorney, on complaint of investment bankers and brokers, closed the cat and dog house and the grand jury indicted the principals. The cat and dog house was offering high grade stocks on partial payments to inexperienced persons of moderate means. Usually it never had the stocks it offered, but gave a receipt for payments and said it would hold the stock, which it didn't have, as security for the unpaid balance. Then its salesmen worked on customers to exchange the high-grade stocks for worthless stuff, a full supply of which was carried by the cat and dog house.

The non-commital reply of the swindler's banker, which the inexperienced mistook for a recommendation led them to fall into the trap. Of course, the swindlers were straight in their bank dealings. They dared not be otherwise. That is no recommendation. Unless a banker can make a positive assertion about the reputation and integrity of a firm, the character of its business and its associates, it is safe to assume that any non-commital reply is not a recommendation. Certainly the banker's reply to the advertising man was not a recommendation.

The average banker is a specialist in short-time credits. He has his hands full keeping his bank's funds working profitably, avoiding bad loans and preventing the unceasing efforts of competitor banks from taking good accounts from him. Unless it is a large bank or has a bond department, the average commercial bank is not usually equipped to give the direct information on investment securities. Commercial banking and investment banking are two entirely distinct fields that call for quite different technical and working knowledge.

Hence in considering a bank reference, analyze it to see just what it means. A straight out, "We don't know," or a plain recommendation, have value. But, "Their business with us has been very satisfactory," and "so far as we know they are all right," mean nothing at all.

L. A. EXCHANGE

By Southland News Service

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—Brisk buying of bonds and other corporate securities featured noon trading on the Los Angeles stock exchange floor today, with a bullish tendency inclined to force several of the issues above their nominal selling point. The eagerness of traders to take the bonds was more apparent than the willingness of owners to sell.

Stocks were quiet, particularly in the oil list, which has been active. Julian preferred held firm at $32 and some selling of common at $19.25 and $19.37½ shoved up the market and stopped offers.

Richmond, in the mining list, was fairly active, several sales being made at 6 cents and later sales demanding 6½ cents.

Los Angeles Investment, among the miscellaneous issues and industrials, stood firm, with very few sales, although some L. A. I. was disposed of at $3.54 after having sold earlier in the day at $3.57.

NEW YORK CLOSING

H. J. DUIZEND
For International News Service

NEW YORK, June 19.—Individual rather than group movements characterized trading on the stock exchange today. The main body of shares continued to fluctuate within a relatively narrow range but they resisted occasional pressure very well and showed increasing stability in the afternoon. The market's principal feature was its ability to pass lightly over unfavorable items in the current trade news.

Atlantic Refining attracted considerable attention in the industrial action because of its acute weakness. Under steady offerings the stock broke about 7 points to a new low for the year at 91¼. No official reason was assigned to the weakness. Tire shares, especially Kelly-Springfield, were adversely affected by the cut in tire prices announced by Fisk Rubber.

Marine shares exhibited strength throughout. Public utilities were under steady accumulation but gains were restricted. Call loans were renewed and arranged at 2 per cent. Bonds showed firmness. Cotton and grains were reactionary. Foreign exchanges were steady to firm.

Stock sales today were: 752,000 shares; bonds $13,109,000.

CHICAGO WHEAT

CHICAGO, June 19.—Grains shot forward at the opening of the market today on the strength of heavy overnight buying orders, but selling pressure was tremendous from longs who desired to take profits and reaction was inevitable. At the close the market was weak. Wheat finished with a loss of 1¼ @ 2½, corn was off ¾ to 1c and oats were down ⅝ to unchanged. There were plenty of buyers in all pits, but the selling pressure was too strong to be neglected.

The Case of Jennie Brice — Serial Story

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART. Copyright, 1924.

XXII—"HORN—"

In the first place, the week following Mr. Ladley's arrest my house was filled up with eight or ten members of a company from the Gaiety Theater, very cheerful and jolly, and well behaved. Three men, I think, and the rest girls. One of the men was named Bellows, John Bellows, and it turned out that he had known Jennie Brice very well.

From the moment he learned that, Mr. Holcombe hardly left him. He walked to the theater with him and waited to walk home again. He took him out to restaurants and for long street-car rides in the morning, and on the last night of their stay, Saturday, they got gloriously drunk together—Mr. Holcombe, no doubt, in his character of Ladley—and came reeling in at three in the morning, singing. Mr. Holcombe was very sick the next day, but by Monday he was all right, and he called me into the room.

"We've got him, Mrs. Pitman," he said, looking mottled but cheerful. "As sure as God made little fishes, we've got him." That was all he would say, however. It seemed he was going to New York, and might be gone for a month. "I've no family," he said, "and enough money to keep me. If I find my relaxation in hunting down criminals, it's a harmless and cheap amusement, and—it's my own business."

He went away that night, and I must admit I missed him. I rented the parlor bedroom the next day to a school teacher, and I found the periscope affair very handy. I could see just how much gas she used; and although the notice on each door forbids cooking and washing in rooms, I found she was doing both; making coffee and boiling an egg in the morning, and rubbing out stockings and handkerchiefs in her wash-bowl. I'd much rather have men as boarders than women. The women are always lighting alcohol lamps on the bureau, and wanting the bed turned into a cozy corner so they can see their gentlemen friends in their rooms.

Well, with Mr. Holcombe gone, and Mr. Reynolds busy all day and half the night getting out the summer silks and preparing for remnant day, and with Mr. Ladley in jail and Lida out of the city—for I saw in the papers that she was not well, and her mother had taken her to Bermuda—I had a good bit of time on my hands. And so I got in the habit of thinking things over, and trying to draw conclusions, as I had seen Mr. Holcombe do. I would sit down and write things out as they had happened, and study them over, and especially I worried over how we could have found a slip of paper in Mr. Ladley's room with a list, almost exact, of the things we had discovered there. I used to read it over, "rope, knife, shoe, towel, Horn—" and get more and more bewildered. "Horn"—might have been a town, or it might not have been. There was such a town, according to Mr. Graves, but apparently he had made nothing of it. Was it a town that was meant?

The dictionary gave only a few words beginning with "horn"—hornet, hornblende, hornpipe, and horny—none of which was of any assistance. And then one morning I happened to see in the personal column of one of the newspapers that a woman named Eliza Shaeffer, of Horner, had day-old Buff Orpington and Plymouth Rock chicks for sale, and it started me to puzzling again. Perhaps it had been Horner, and possibly this very Eliza Shaeffer—

I suppose my lack of experience was in my favor, for, after all, Eliza Shaeffer is a common enough name, and the "Horn" might have stood for "hornswoggle," for all I knew. The story of the man who thought of what he would do if he were a horse, came back to me, and for an hour or so I tried to think I was Jennie Brice, trying to get away from my rascal of a husband. But I made no headway. I would never have gone to Horner, or to any small town, if I had wanted to hide. I think I should have gone around the corner and taken a room in my own neighborhood, or have lost myself in some large city.

It was the same day that, since I did not go to Horner, Horner came to me. The bell rang about three o'clock, and I answered it myself. For, with times hard and only two or three roomers all winter, I had not had a servant, except Terry to do odd jobs for some months.

There stood a fresh-faced young girl, with a covered basket in her hand.

"Are you Mrs. Pitman?" she asked.

"I don't need anything today," I said, trying to shut the door. And at that minute something in the basket cheeped. Young women selling poultry are not common in our neighborhood. "What have you there?" I asked more agreeably.

"Chicks, day-old chicks, but I'm not trying to sell you any. I —may I come in?"

It was dawning on me then that perhaps this was Eliza Shaeffer. I led her back to the dining-room, with Peter sniffing at the basket.

"My name is Shaeffer," she said. "I've seen your name in the papers, and I believe I know something about Jennie Brice."

Eliza Shaeffer's story was curious. She said that she was postmistress at Horner, and lived with her mother on a farm a mile out of the town, driving in and out each day in a buggy.

On Monday afternoon, March the fifth, a woman had alighted at the station from a train, and had taken luncheon at the hotel. She told the clerk she was on the road, selling corsets, and was much disappointed to find no store of any size in the town. The woman, who had registered as Mrs. Jane Bellows, said she was tired and would like to rest for a day or two on a farm. She was told to see Eliza Shaeffer at the post-office, and, as a result, drove out with her to the farm after the last mail came in that evening.

Asked to describe her—she was over medium height, light-haired, quick in her movements, and wore a black and white striped dress with a red collar, and hat to match. She carried a small brown valise that Miss Shaeffer presumed contained her samples.

Mrs. Shaeffer had made her welcome, although they did not usually take boarders until June. She had not eaten much supper, and that night she asked for pen and ink, and had written a letter. The letter was not mailed until Wednesday. All of Tuesday Mrs. Bellows had spent in her room, and Mrs. Shaeffer had driven to the village in the afternoon with word that she had been crying all day, and bought some headache medicine for her.

On Wednesday morning, however, she had appeared at breakfast, eaten heartily, and had asked Miss Shaeffer to take her letter to the post-office. It was addressed to Mr. Ellis Howell, in care of a Pittsburgh newspaper!

Tomorrow—Alma Again.

The lavish production of "East is West" now being given at 8 o'clock nightly by Murphy's Comedians at their tent on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, between Brand boulevard and Central avenue, is exciting much favorable comment.

The story of "East Is West," as many know, is of an American chap in the Orient, who befriends a little Chinese girl, only to learn later that she is really an American, like himself. Naturally, love is the animating motif of the play, but there is a suave villain who contrives to keep things exciting throughout the performance.

J. A. Menard, manager of Murphy's Comedians, has gathered a splendid cast for this production and patrons of the tent are assured of seeing the play under the most favorable circumstances. Those who wish front seats are advised to come as soon after 7:15 o'clock as possible.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CLEAN SHIRT

Uncle Butter, the funny little goat gentleman, with a bunch of whiskers on his chin, pranced up to the hollow stump bungalow of Mr. Longears and tapped with his hoof on the door.

"Is Uncle Wiggily in, Nurse Jane?" bleated the goat, as the muskrat lady housekeeper said good morning to him.

"Why, yes, he is," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "He has just finished his breakfast. Is anything the matter, Uncle Butter?" asked Nurse Jane. "I hope Aunt Letty isn't ill. Do you want me to come over and give her some tin can tea?"

"Oh, no, thank you, Aunt Lettie is very well," replied Uncle Butter. "I just came over early to get Uncle Wiggily to help me fix the roof of my house. There's a hole in it and the rain comes through."

"What's that, Uncle Butter," cried Uncle Wiggily, coming out on the porch just then, "a leak in your roof Of course I'll help you mend it. I'll come right over with you. I was just wondering what I could do for an adventure,"

"I don't know that it will be much of an adventure to help me mend the leak in my roof," bleated Uncle Butter, sort of apologetic like.

"Oh, perhaps I may have a grand adventure!" cried Uncle Wiggily. And he did, as I shall tell you.

There was quite a large hole in the roof of the goat gentleman's house, and when Uncle Wiggily saw it, the rabbit said:

"We must mend this with a piece of birch bark. I'll gnaw you off a large piece of bark. Then we'll get some sticky gum from the pine tree and stick the piece of bark over the hole in the roof. That will keep out the rain when the next shower comes. But you will have to climb up on the roof, Uncle Butter, for you are better at that sort of thing than I am."

"Oh, I'll do that part all right," bleated the goat.

So Uncle Wiggily gnawed the bark and got the sticky gum from the pine tree, and when all was ready, Uncle Butter jumped up on his roof and covered the hole.

Soon the leak was mended and Uncle Butter thanked his rabbit friend very much.

"But you didn't get much of an adventure out of it, Uncle Wiggily," said Uncle Butter. "In fact, all that has happened, so far as I can see, is that you have a lot of dirt on your shirt. You must have gotten it on from the pine tree."

"Dear me! My shirt is rather soiled," said Uncle Wiggily, looking at it, for he worked without his coat, and the back, front and sleeves of his white shirt were streaked with dirt.

"Take it off and Aunt Lettie will wash your shirt for you," said Uncle Butter.

"Thank you, no. I'll go home to my bungalow and wash out my own shirt," said Uncle Wiggily. "As you say, I didn't have any adventure helping you mend your roff, but I may have one if I go home and wash out this shirt. Nurse Jane has gone away, for she was about to leave when I came over with you. I'll have the bungalow all to myself and I can splash and splish as much as I please."

It did not take Uncle Wiggily long to hop to his bungalow after Uncle Butter had thanked him for his help. And the rabbit gentleman was just going to take off his soiled shirt to wash it clean when, all of a sudden, from behing the pantry door popped the Woozie Wolf. The bad chap had crawled in a window when the rabbit and Nurse Jane were out, and had waited for Uncle Wiggily to come back.

"What do you want here?" bravely asked the rabbit.

"I came to carry you off to my den," snarled the Wolf. "The Fox wasn't smart enough to catch you, but I am! Come on!"

"Oh, please wait a minute," begged Uncle Wiggily, as he suddenly thought of a trick to play on the Wolf. "You wouldn't want to take me off to your den when I have on such a soiled shirt; would you? Won't you wait until I wash this shirt clean? You wouldn't want to be seen walking with me when I have on a shirt all covered with bark and sticky pine tree gum; would you?"

"Perhaps not," growled the Wolf, who was very proud of himself. "Go on, wash your shirt—I'll wait for you."

So Uncle Wiggily made some soap suds and in it he sozzled his shirt until it was as clean and white as snow.

"Now I must put my shirt through the wringer to squeeze out the water," said the rabbit to the Wolf. "That will make it almost dry, and as soon as it hangs in the air a bit it will be dry enough for me to wear. Then you can take me away. But will you please push my shirt through the rubber rollers of the wringer while I turn them."

"Yes, I'll do that," growled the Wolf. "We'll get through so much quicker." So he took hold of the wet shirt and pushed it toward the rubber rollers of the wringer. Uncle Wiggily suddenly turned the crank handle very fast, and before the Wolf knew it his paws, as well as the shirt, were caught and squeezed tightly between the rollers.

"Wow! Ouch! You're pinching my paws! Let me out!" howled the Wolf, pulling and jumping about, but he couldn't get loose. There he was—caught fast in the wringer roller.

"Now you stay here until I get the police dog!" said Uncle Wiggily. Putting on his coat, and not bothering about his shirt, the rabbit telephoned the police dog, who soon took the Wolf off to jail.

"It's a good thing I know how to do washing," laughed the bunny, as he hung his shirt out on the line to dry.

And if the gas stove doesn't stick a piece of potato on the nose of the teapot so it can't pour any coffee into the milk bottle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily playing golf.

CHANEY IN STRAIGHT ROLE

Just for once, Lon Chaney is going to discard wigs, crutches and other insignia of his art, wash the make-up lines of sin and dissipation from his face, and play a straight role.

This role will be the "He" one in Victor Seastrom's production of "He Who Gets Slapped," the noted play by Leonid Andreyev, which Seastrom is to film for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

Bits Of Personalities
Some People You Know
Long Dead, Yet Live
Yes, Personality Pays

By Gil A. Cowan

Personalities—do you know them? Many of you do, no doubt. Yet, the average man seldom comes in contact with life of people who occupy the public eye.

"Curly" Stecher, who died as the result of grievous injuries inflicted by a mad elephant, it is said, was one whom all Glendale Elks will recall. Stecher is being buried this afternoon.

His life story was stranger than fiction. Skilled as an animal trainer it is said that he held no remorse in the fact that his life was cut in two, literally, when Big Charlie went bad and crushed him.

Columns could be written of "Curly" Stecher. Many anecdotes will be spun around his more or less romantic career.

And yet, through it all, there was nothing but the most tedious work involved in mastering the dumb brutes that he trained.

Ben Welch is playing at a downtown theatre this week. You wonder, if you see him, why he keeps seated.

Well, Ben is blind. Also paralyzed. His life's story also is one from which a moral could be drawn.

But what's the use of moralizing here? That's for others to do.

And it is best that you recollect Ben for the comedian that he is. the laughs that he gets, the fun he makes, and it is only too bad there are not more of the good old-time comedians trouping the country.

Why, it is even rumored that "Uncle Joe" Cannon wants to go back to Congress. Sure and it would be a good thing if a half-dozen more cannons were sent to Congress to liven things up a bit next session.

And La Follette still threatens the United States with a third party. Some more life, although the third party is more or less deteriorated from the efficacy it had twelve years ago in shocking the two old parties.

"Old Bill" Bryan would be in his glory at the Democratic convention. Nothing the Great Commoner likes to do better than bask in the sun of notoriety. You would know that if you ever had the pleasure of interviewing him.

Personalities—all in a day's news. You could talk about them forever, it would seem.

Why, they even talk of Plato and Aristotle and Caesar and Napoleon and Lincoln to this day.

Yet they have been dead a long time.

All of which goes to prove personality pays.

Develop it!

SECOND DEFEAT IN TWO DAYS FOR CALIFORNIAN

Miss Helen Wills Loses Match at Wimbledon To Miss Kathleen McKane, 6-2, 6-2; Series Goes to English Court Stars

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 19.—Miss Helen Wills of California met defeat for the second consecutive time today in the international women's tennis tournament, when she was defeated in the singles by Miss Kathleen McKane of England, 6-2, 6-2.

Miss McKane's victory gave England the series for the Wightman cup.

Miss Wills played better than in her match against Mrs. Covell, but was still slow, frequently double-faulting and overdriving. all the games were close and hard-fought.

Miss Wills served brilliantly, but was entirely too slow on her feet.

Mrs. Covell beat Mrs. Molla Mallory, 6-2, 5-7, 6-3.

In the doubles Mrs. George Wightman and Miss Wills defeated Miss McKane and Miss Evelyn Colyer, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4.

In the remaining singles match Miss Geraldine Beamish, British star, achieved another triumph for her team by defeating Miss Eleanor Goss, 6-1, 8-10, 6-3.

Fish Are Full of Lye as Water Low After Forest Fire

SANTA YNEZ, Cal., June 19.—You have heard of fishermen full of lies. But now comes the fish full of lye. The waters of the upper Sisquoc and Manzana creeks are low this year, due to the forest fires last fall and lack of rainfall this past season.

So it is that the famous fish preserves are denuded, the deep pools where mountain trout were hooked in abundance are mudholes. The shady groves, the tangled brush—all have been burned in desolate valley, which once was the hunters' paradise.

The few remaining trout in the streams that are only trickling rivulets this year have so much lye ash in their systems they are inedible.

Huntington Park Elks To Bowl Here Friday

The bowling team of the Huntington Park lodge of the Elks will meet the local Elks' bowling team here Friday night in a match at the Recreation alleys. The rivalry between the two teams is keen and some good shooting should mark the contest.

On Saturday evening the Pacific Electric team will meet a picked team of bowlers representing the Glendale aggregation of pin-busters.

DOAK LOOKS GOOD

Doak made his debut with the Dodgers and pitched masterly ball but Donohue was a shade better and the Reds won, 2 to 1.

YANKS LOSE GROUND

The Yankees lost ground in the American league pennant race when the Indians took a hard-earned 6 to 5 victory while the Tigers were trimming the Red Sox, 5 to 3. The Tigers are now only eight points behind the leaders with the Red Sox two games back of first place. The Giants and Cubs kept pace when they defeated the Cards and Phils, respectively.

TIGERS CAPTURE SECOND GAME AS ANGELS TUMBLE

Deal Responsible for Six Of Vernon's Eight Runs; Jenkins Hits Homer

By BEN McCUIRE
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—Charley Deal, Vernon third sacker, was practically the whole show in the defeat of the Angels, for the second straight game of the series yesterday, 8 to 2. Deal hit a single, double and triple, scoring six runs. Nick Dumovich, who started for the Angels, was chased to the showers in the third, after the Tigers had nicked him for five hits and as many runs. Leon Cadore was effective and held the Angels to seven hits, one of these a home run by Joe Jenkins, scoring Jacobs ahead of him.

The Angels' fielding was ragged, Hood contributing three of the five errors at first and being responsible for three of the Tigers' runs. Vernon scored two in the first when Dumovich, in attempting to catch Chadbourne at second, following a sacrifice by Schneider, threw the ball to center field, Deal bringing them both home with a double to center. With two down in the third, Hood dropped Chadbourne's pop fly, Schneider and Blakesly both strolled, Deal slashed a triple to left center, clearing the bases. Ramsay replaced Dumovich.

The Seals dropped yesterday's game to Oakland, 7 to 4, when Foster allowed the league leaders only five hits. Lefty Williams started for the Seals, but was jarred in the sixth. Geary and Shorr finished the game. Only one of the Seals' scores was earned, the others being made on errors.

The Indians made it two straight from the Solons at Sacramento yesterday when they handed the Senators a 9 to 4 defeat. Steuland had the Solons guessing all the time, while Seattle gathered sixteen hits off Hughes, Canfield and Smith. Hughes was knocked unconscious by a pitched ball, but recovered later and pitched a couple of innings.

Fielders at the Portland-Salt Lake game in the Mormon City were kept busy chasing balls yesterday. It was an old-time slugfest and, when the smoke cleared away at the end of the ninth, the Bees had counted 19 runs, while the Ducks had only 13. Lindimore, Sheehan and Frederick got circuit clouts, while High nicked a couple over the fence. Eckert and Keefe hurled for Portland, while Thomas and McCabe worked for the Bees.

SOX FACE STIFF BATTLE IN GAME ON NEXT SUNDAY

Pick of Pacific Fleet to Meet Local Players In Benefit Contest

The game here next Sunday, when a picked team from the Pacific coast fleet will endeavor to turn back the consistent winning White Sox who have made Glendale famous in the semi-pro baseball world, promises to be one of the hardest and toughest contests that has been the lot of the local Pale Hose crew. The proceeds of the game will go to a fund for dependents of sailors killed in the explosion on the U. S. S. Mississippi last week.

The lineup of the fleet team has not been announced, but will be ready in a few days. The Sox lineup will be the same as last Sunday, with the possible exception of the hurling spot. Manager Frank Kerwin has not selected his moundsman for next Sunday, and it is possible that Parsons will receive the assignment.

The work of Parsons last Sunday, while a trifle unsteady at times, impressed the fans as fair to good. He held the hard-hitting Pacific Electric crew to three scratch hits, and not a trolley man got beyond second base during the entire game.

Moudy May Pitch

It is rumored that Moudy, the fleet's great pitcher, may be in the box for the fleet team next Sunday. Moudy has put his John Henry to a contract calling for his services with the San Francisco Seals as soon as his enlistment expires next month. And the figure named in the contract is for no small amount.

Some of the ball players from the U. S. S. New Mexico will be in the fleet lineup Sunday. The New Mexico team was scheduled to play here last Saturday but the game was cancelled after the explosion on board the U. S. S. Mississippi.

Today the bluejackets from the U. S. S. California are playing the San Diego Air Fleet baseball team, champions of the San Diego Service league, in the second game of a three-game series for the West Coast navy title. The flyers won the first game at San Diego last Saturday, 8 to 7.
